HAVE FAITH IN AMERICA

See Vindication of Friendly
Policy Towards Germans
in Washington

Washington — America's relations with Germany have improved coincidentally with the development of a better understanding between France and Germany. This is the impression given by the reports of Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador to Germany, who has just given President Coolidge full reports on the condition of Germany.

In a sense, American officials see a complete vindication of the policy they have followed for the last four years in playing the role of friend to Germany. The fact that Germany and France would sooner or later recognize the necessity of a close working agreement both commercially and politically has been anticipated here. In fact, it has been urged as one way to produce economic stability in Europe. Now that France and Germany are drawing closer together, the United States is left alone. Her attitude of friendliness toward a former foe, particularly her broad-gauged treatment of alien property, has been appreciated by German statesmen.

RELATIONS MORE CORDIAL

Although war hatreds linger here and there, the diplomatic relations between America and Germany have grown more and more cordial ever since the treaty of Berlin was signed. The fact that the United States did not sign the Versailles treaty with the expressions of guilt for Germany's responsibility in the war has had a favorable effect on German opinion.

The background of friendship which has been developed has been further strengthened by the willingness of the American government to permit international bankers to float loans to be used for expansion of German industrial facilities. An American is in charge of the operation of the Dawes plan. But for the participation of American experts on the Dawes Young commission, it is considered doubtful whether Germany would have accepted the plan as wholeheartedly as she did.

FRANCO-GERMAN AGREEMENT

Ambassador Schurman foresees working agreements between France and Germany. "One of the most amazing things," he said after his visit to the White House, "is the change in the psychological atmosphere between France and Germany. Where fifteen months ago a bitter and open hatred existed between the countries, it now is no longer manifest. This, of course, is one element but in my opinion, both have just decided it does not pay and that more will come from cooperation and harmony than would come from a continuation of hatred."

Mr. Schurman regards the present government as stable and ready to meet the big twelve million gold mark payment which comes due on reparations next year.

While there is no sign of a change in America's policy toward Russia, there is naturally a desire here to bring about a friendly relationship with the Russian people and thus clear the slate of all international difficulties that arose out of war.

IRONWOOD PREPARES THANKSGIVING ON RELEASE OF MINERS

Ironwood, Mich.—(AP)—Just a week ago Friday the cave-in at the G. Pabst mine occurred, and Friday with every one of the 43 entombed miners on surface and well, preparations were going forward for thanksgiving services at the auditorium of the memorial building here.

Thomas Trewartha, shift boss in charge of the entombed men and one of the heroes of the affair, Friday was resting peacefully. Visitors were excluded from his home Thursday. He suffered no ill effects from the ordeal.

Mining officials consider it remarkable that not an accident occurred while the entombed miners weakened by their imprisonment, climbed down more than 1,000 feet of ladderway in the mine shaft where no daylight ever penetrates coming out through a small opening where only one man at a time could go.

Slayer Fights Officers Leading Him To Gallows

Condemned Murderer Is Hanged After Tear Gas Is Used to End Struggle

Butte Mont. — (AP)—Tony Vettere, convicted murderer, was hanged here Friday morning after he had been overcome with tear gas, following an attack on officers who attempted to lead him to the scaffold.

Entering Vettere's cell shortly before the time set for the execution, Deputy Sheriff D. O. Robinson instructed the condemned man to prepare for the death march. Vettere seized a piece of iron pipe which he had concealed in his bed and drove the officer from the cell, following him down the cell corridor, brandishing the pipe and a knife made from a large spoon.

Robinson leaped through a door at one end of the corridor and another officer locked it. Confined to the corridor, Vettere shouted insults at the officers and berating the judge who sentenced him to death and dared any one to attempt to take him to the scaffold.

Other deputies then brought two drums of tear gas and started spraying it into the corridor, driving Vettere to his cell, where they were forced to use the gas for 15 minutes before the prisoner dropped to the floor. He was then carried to the gallows. There he revived and the trial was sprung. He was pronounced dead in six minutes.

Vettere steadfastly maintained his innocence of the shooting of Anne Favero, of which he was convicted.

FIND LIPPERT TOOK MONEY IN LIQUOR TRIAL

Former Marathon-co District Attorney Granted New Hearing

Superior — (AP)—After a nine-hour deliberation, a federal district court jury at 9 o'clock Friday morning returned a verdict declaring George W. Lippert, former Marathon-co district attorney guilty of having conspired to violate the national prohibition act. The co-defendant in the case, Rodney McDonald, deposed deputy sheriff, was acquitted.

Motion for a hearing for a new trial made by Ralph Jackman, defense counsel, as soon as the verdict was returned, was granted by Judge Claude Z. Luse and the hearing set for Oct. 16. As a result, sentence of Lippert has been deferred until these arguments have been acted upon.

TOOK VERDICT WITH EASE

The maximum sentence for Lippert's crime is two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine, or both. Lippert took the verdict with apparent ease. He turned pale, however, and left his seat at the side of his attorney and walked to a window. He is the first district attorney in the state ever to have been found guilty of the crime alleged.

All through the 10-day trial his counsel contended that he was the victim of a plot engineered by Marathon-co bootleggers and moonshiners whom he had prosecuted. The original indictment, returned May 24 by a Madison federal grand jury, charged Lippert with having accepted bribes in return for immunity from arrest.

Counts one and two of the indictment were nulled and the verdict reached only upon consideration of count three which charged him with conspiracy with having violated the national laws in the maintenance of nuisances.

FATHER SEES SON KILLED ON POWER TOWER

Kaukauna Boy Electrocuted
While Playing High
Above Bridge

Kaukauna—Arthur Esler, 14, son of Peter Esler, 207 Elm-st., was instantly killed by electrocution about 3:15 Thursday evening when he came in contact with the high tension wires on top of one of the towers on the new bridge between the island and the Union Bag and Paper mill. The boy was playing. "Run my good sheep run" with other boys and in an attempt to get away from his companions he climbed to the top of the tower on the south end of the bridge. A beam runs from one tower to the other supporting a group of high tension wires carrying power to the north side, Little Chute and Combined Locks. The youngster crawled out on the beam on his way to the other tower and in order to do this he had to cross the high tension wires. He was about two feet above the arc light circuit and abreast of the high voltage wires. The boy crawled over to the first wire and in attempting to get over the second he reached out with his right hand and struck the third wire which carried 12,000 volts and was knocked across all three wires. His head and arm touched the first, his right hip lay on the second and his right leg fell on the third.

When he touched the wires all of the lights in the city flickered and a great flash of light shot out from the tower. He laid across all three wires for a few seconds and then the first wire dropped burning to the ground and the body fell a moment later. The towers are sixty-five feet high. As the wire broke there was a loud report and many people ran to see what caused the noise.

The boy's sister Pearl, was standing directly below the tower and saw the boy lying on the wires and saw him fall. His father had just gone into Jacob Licht's place across the street from where the accident happened to telephone to Appleton to learn the

TRY TO TRACE GOODS BOUGHT NEAR CARMEL

Prosecution Attempts to Trace Aimee Through Purchases at Cottage

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Men's testimony intended to define coiffeures and cosmetics, augmented by women's versions of similar subjects has turned the preliminary hearing of Aimee Semple McPherson from channels of routine documentary evidence to a detailed account of effects produced by various forms of feminine make up.

Attempts of witnesses to identify the Angelus temple pastor as a woman who occupied a cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former temple radio operator, during the time the evangelist declares she was held for ransom by kidnappers caused the attorneys to change the trend of testimony Thursday.

Mrs. McPherson, who for four days heard witnesses attempt to verify charges she conspired to obstruct justice by issuing false statements regarding her five weeks absence from her temple, Thursday allowed her bronze colored hair to fall about her shoulders to refute declarations she used switches in effecting changes in appearance.

TRY TO TRACE ARTICLES

District Attorneys Asa Keyes investigators continue attempts to trace various articles the state charges Mrs. McPherson purchased in coast cities in the hope of discounting her story that she spent several weeks in southern Arizona. Detectives Thursday night said they located an optical store where the evangelist purchased a pair of heavy spectacles similar to those worn by the woman at Carmel.

The district attorney indicated further testimony would be introduced Friday relative to the appearance of Mrs. McPherson on the day she disappeared at Ocean Park beach and as to the clothing worn when she reappeared at Douglas, Ariz.

FLORIDA OFFICERS MINIMIZE LOSSES, RELIEF HEAD SAYS

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Florida officials, from the governor down, and real estate operators were accused Friday by John Barton Payne, American Red Cross chairman, of handicapping Red Cross relief plans through the minimizing of losses in the Florida hurricane.

The sentiments of Mr. Payne were disclosed in a telegram to C. C. Pinckney, chairman of the Richmond, Va., Red Cross chapter which discussed the financial needs of the situation.

"The poor people who suffered are regarded as of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business in Florida," the telegram said. "The Red Cross feels bound to go forward and do the job just the same and everyone should help."

"Our officials on the ground report the greatest need since the San Francisco disaster with 5,000 homes totally destroyed and 18,000 families impoverished. Red Cross assistance is given only on basis of actual need, not losses."

Lawyer Won't Be Avenging Angel, So He Drops Case

Chicago.—(AP)—Arthur D. Cloud feels that he is an attorney, not an instrument of vengeance, so he is withdrawing from the long prosecuted cause of Miriam Noel Wright against her estranged architect husband who is now reported ready to return from Mexico and sue for peace.

"I wanted to be a lawyer and Mrs. Wright wanted me to be an avenging angel," Cloud said, explaining that his client's persistent rejection of temporary financial agreements with Wright induced the action. The attorney said Mrs. Wright's lack of funds led him to endeavor to obtain financial support for her pending final settlement of the case, but that she refused to be party to the efforts and demanded that he "go out and punish Mr. Wright."

Cloud, who was Mrs. Wright's counsel in the successive legal actions against the architect and Olga Milanoff, Montenegro dancer, with whom Wright finally fled palatial "Taleson" in the Wisconsin woods, said that one declined offer was for $125, a month

ASK PROBE OF MINE CAVE-IN IN MICHIGAN

Duluth Newspaper Says Investigation of Matter Will Be Made

Ashland.—(AP)—A wire from Elton R. Eaton, secretary to Governor Groesbeck, Michigan, indicates that a federal investigation into the Ironwood mine disaster which killed three miners and entombed 43 others for over five days is assured.

The governor's secretary wires that under the present Michigan law the state has no jurisdiction over inspection of iron and copper mines. Each county elects its own inspector.

Governor Groesbeck, however, the wire continues, has directed Perry Ward, commissioner of labor department, to have the coal mine inspector go to Ironwood and cooperate with federal officials investigating the recent mine disaster.

SAY INVESTIGATION CERTAIN

The Duluth Herald's special correspondent stated in an article Thursday night that a probe of the mine crash is a certainty and will take place in the very near future. He declares there is some demand for a public inquiry either by the federal government, Michael Collins, Gogebic-co mine inspector or the state of Michigan. He states that officials of the Oliver Mining company welcome an investigation and that they are anxious to have an authoritative body definitely establish the blame for the accident.

"I was not."

"In the specific instance of these metal claims did you confer with Daugherty before signing the release?"

"I did not."

"Did Daugherty ever in any way discuss this matter with you or seek to influence your independent conclusion?"

"He did not."

"Were you ever approached in person or by writing in an effort to influence you by Jesse Smith or John T. King?"

"I was not."

"That is all, senator."

Cross examination by United States Attorney Buckner brought out that the letters Senator Goff signed, in regard to the American Metal company shares were dictated by Anna R. Johnson, another assistant to Daugherty.

"I depended a great deal upon clerks and subordinates," Senator Goff said.

Father Sees Son Die On High Tower

time of the Frank Meyers' funeral in that city which he planned to attend Friday morning, and he and Jacob Licht ran out when they saw the flash of light from the tower. At first they could not see who was on the tower, but soon the children told them that it was Peter Esler's son. The father became frantic and tried to climb up the side of the tower to get his son burning at the top, but several men held him back. In the meantime the boy had fallen to the ground and his father picked him up.

The boy was badly burned and a large hole was found in his neck. His body was full of holes.

The break in the power line cut off power supply for Combined Locks and Little Chute. Lights were out in both places. Little Chute was soon put on the north side circuit but there was not enough power in the circuit to supply the Combined Locks Paper mill and it was necessary for the mill to shut down until the wires were repaired. Arc lights on the north side were out until nearly midnight.

An inquest was held at Feehan's Undertaking establishment early Friday morning. The jury was drawn from those who witnessed the accident.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Esler, three sisters, Pearl and Mrs. Peter Bergmans of Kaukauna, and Mrs. Alvin De Bruin of Appleton, three brothers, Elmer Esler of Kaukauna and Sylvester and Elmer Esler of Kaukauna.

Death of Arthur Esler was caused by accidental electrocution, according to the verdict of the coroner's Friday morning. Members of the jury were Henry C. Defense Committee of C. M. and St. Paul Railway Will File Appeal

New York—(P)—The bondholders' defense committee of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway announced Thursday that an appeal would be made from the decision of Federal Judge Wilkinson in Chicago, denying leave to file an intervention petition, and ordering the railroad sold at auction, Nov. 22.

The defense committee represents holders of more than $18,000,000 of the road's bonds. The committee claim that the road is making nearly $10,000,000 a year, or 15 per cent on the upset price of $67,500,000, placed on the property subject to the general and refunding mortgage and "is worth far more than the upset price fixed by the courts."

MERCURY RISES AS HEAVY RAIN FALLS

A rainfall of .53 inches in Appleton Thursday night caused a decided rise in temperature Friday. The mercury rose to the highest point of the week and had reached 68 degrees at noon with indications that it would go higher in the afternoon. The sun shone for short periods in the afternoon.

The forecast is for cloudy weather for Friday evening with showers in the extreme east portion.

EXPECT CROWD AT TAX GATHERING

Rule Calls Meeting to Determine
Action on Revaluation of County

Whether the revaluation of the county recently completed here by the tax commission will be accepted throughout the county will be determined Friday evening at a meeting at the city hall.

The call was issued by Mayor Albert C. Rule and representatives from Kaukauna, Kimberly and Combined Locks, as well as Appleton, will attend.

Reports from the county at large indicate that the gathering will be well attended by official and unofficial representatives from other towns and villages in addition to those already mentioned.

The order from the state tax commission received by County Clerk John E. Hantschel has aroused a tempest of discussion and debate and many will be present simply to be informed on tax problems if for no other reason, it was said.

The percentage of county tax of the two cities and two villages most vitally interested in the Friday evening gathering was increased unjustly, these municipalities contend, and an appeal to the circuit court of Dane county is being considered.

Dr. D. D. Frawley has returned to New York to continue his post graduate work in surgery after spending a month visiting his mother, Mrs. D. J. Frawley.

25 STUDENTS TO BE ASSIGNED TO WATCH CLASSES

Work Out Cooperation Between College Classes and City Schools

Twenty-five prospective teachers who are being trained at Lawrence college will observe teaching methods at Appleton high school during the next twelve weeks, it was decided at a meeting of the fourteen teachers who have charge of the classes to be observed and the principal of the school with Dr. Richard Thiel of the education department at the college Thursday afternoon.

A plan of cooperation with the college has been worked out with the high schools of the city whereby senior students in observation classes at the college may have practical experience in observing the work and in assisting these teachers. No actual teaching work will be done by the students, it was said.

The purposes, aims, methods and the part the high school classroom and teacher is to play in this plan were discussed by Dr. Thiel. Each day the students will attend the classes assigned to them, each person having only one class to observe during the twelve week period, and will write their reactions to what they have observed.

Individual and group conferences of the students with the teachers, the principal and Dr. Thiel will be held from time to time. It was planned that teaching processes will be analyzed and discussed at these meetings.

Assistance of the teachers will consist of such duties as correcting papers, checking reading assignments, coaching backward pupils, supplying the classroom bulletin boards with material and routine tasks assigned by the teacher.

No more than three observers will be assigned to any one teacher in a day, and no more than one will be permitted in any class.

CITY CLERK IS BACK ON JOB, SMOKE PROVES

Smoke issuing from the city clerk's office on the second floor of the city hall Friday morning indicated that E. L. Williams had returned to his duties there after his annual two weeks' vacation without forgetting his ever anyone to catch him without the briar in his mouth, treasures that pipe as he would a child, and long indeed would be the day should he ever lose it. He spent the last week of his vacation touring southern Wisconsin.

18 BOYS SURE OF TRIP TO GAME IN MADISON

At least 18 Appleton Boy Scouts will motor to Madison Saturday to attend the football game between Wisconsin and Cornell college, according to E. O. Kelcher, valley scout executive. Kelcher will make the trip, and several from Kimberly and Kaukauna. Mr. Kelcher spent Friday lining up transportation for the Kimberly-Kaukauna delegation, which will include about 10 boys. Almost 100 Appleton boys desired to make the trip, but Mr. Kelcher was unable to secure enough transportation. Business men of the city were asked to provide transportation.

The scouts will be the guests of the university athletic department at the game, which will be part of the first annual Boy Scout day at Camp Randall. Plans are being made to invite the boys every year. Plans for Saturday include a parade to the field and a scout demonstration.

Thomas represented the local office. Mr. Thomas presided at the meeting.

DRAMATIC TROOP OF BANNISTER'S OPENS SCHEDULE

Present Mary's Aunt at Chilton in First Outside Production

A dramatic troop of Appleton persons, playing under the name of the J. F. Bannister Celebrated Players, completed its first outside engagement at Chilton Tuesday night. Several other appearances in cities between Green Bay and Fond du Lac, and Clintonville and Chilton are scheduled during the fall and winter. They will play Mary's Aunt, the production now being shown in Appleton, during the first week in December.

The company is playing under an agreement with the Fox River Valley Industry for the Blind, an association organized for the improvement of working conditions for the blind in this valley. The Bannister organization has for its purpose the raising of funds for the industry.

Mary's Aunt played to a crowded house at the Eagles hall at Chilton. Other engagements scheduled for the next few weeks will be at Black Creek auditorium on Oct. 12, at Kimberly auditorium on Oct. 15, and at the Grand Opera house at New London on Oct. 21. Negotiations are being made for appearances in other places. It was said. The play will be scheduled for engagements until Dec. 7, when other productions will be put on the road, Mr. Bannister said. If this comedy is successful the players plan to give performances of other plays during the next few months in the towns which have been played by Mary's Aunt. Several plays will be launched after Dec. 7, it was said.

Two groups of players have rehearsed for Mary's Aunt and the same procedure will be used for other plays. An understudy for each performer is included in the second group. The first company for the comedy includes: Miss Myrtle Rogers, Mrs. Bertha Barry, Miss Betty Dost, Miss Dean Chamberlain, Miss Pauline Hoffman, M. J. Van Roy, J. F. Bannister, M. C. Roemer, and C. A. Hipp. The understudy group consists of Mrs. Gustav Keller, Jr., Mrs. J. F. Bannister, Miss Vesper Chamberlain, Miss Linda Holmbeck, Miss Anna Keller, J. B. Langenberg, and J. E. Murphy. The plays are directed by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bannister.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN OF WAUPACA FARMER

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the barn on the farm owned by Lawrence Jensen at Waupaca at about 7:45 Wednesday night. All the fall grain and hay in the barn was destroyed, one horse was burned to death and another badly burned. George Franz, who is renting the farm left for his cottage at Chain o'Lakes at about 6:45 after completing his work at the farm. A neighbor passed through the farm yard about 6:30 and there were no signs of fire, it was said. A small insurance is carried on the barn and horses.

PREVENTION OF FIRE WEEK TO START OCT. 3

Towns and Villages Throughout Country Will Observe Safety Period

Nation-wide observance of Fire Prevention Week begins next Sunday, Oct. 3, in accordance with a proclamation of President Coolidge. The purpose of the period, as set forth in the proclamation, is to devise means whereby the heavy loss of life and property caused annually by fire may be reduced.

The Insurance Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, working in conjunction with other interested agencies in promoting fire prevention work, reports that hundreds of towns and cities throughout the country will carry on appropriate activities during the coming week.

Plans have been perfected for observance of the week in Appleton. In discussing the local plans and the need for such activities, Fire Chief George P. McGowan, chairman of the Fire Prevention Week committee, said:

"In 1925 American's fire waste amounted to $165,000,000. Ten years later the figure was approximately the same, there being a slight increase to $172,000,000, but by 1925 losses had more than tripled to the total of $570,000,000. Even more important are the thousands of lives destroyed by fire each year. Every community contributed a share of this tremendous waste, although some have heavier losses than others. Experience in the

FLASHER LIGHTS GOOD EXCUSE TO GRAB SHORT NAP

A new use has been found for the traffic flasher lights which are becoming numerous throughout the country.

Wednesday night a patrolman found a man who utilizes the delay between stop and go signals to good advantage by sleeping.

The motorcycle officer, making his county territory, came upon a car parked near the roadside with a man sleeping over the steering wheel. The officer aroused the sleeper.

"Oh," said the man with a yawn, "I was waiting for the red light to turn."

The patrolman investigated and returned to the car to report that the red light was a lantern to warn of a bridge obstruction where construction work is underway on state trunk highway 15.

Inter-Chamber Fire Waste contest which is conducted by the National Fire Waste Council and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, shows that coincident with continuous fire prevention activities, reductions can be achieved.

"Appleton can be counted on to do its full share in carrying out President Coolidge's proclamation for Fire Prevention week. A program may be arranged with the idea of installing in the minds of citizens the importance of adopting and practicing fire prevention methods through the entire year. Coincident with our fire prevention efforts, we hope to continue our record of having the lowest fire loss of any city in the state. If every citizen will cooperate to the fullest degree, we should preserve our excellent showing of the past."

CURBING THE RECKLESS DRIVER

The automobile, in its brief existence, has proved to be the most useful instrument ever placed in the hands of man and at the same time the most deadly, declared Judge Alva R. Corlett, of the Cleveland, O., municipal court, in speaking before the Fox River Valley Safety Conference at Lawrence chapel Wednesday night when he recommended jail sentences for lawless automobile drivers.

It is obvious that some drastic step must be taken to curb the reckless driver. Last year 27,000 persons were killed in automobile accidents in the United States. This is a disgrace; in fact, it is the next thing to criminal. Public indifference and lax enforcement of the traffic laws are responsible for the great majority of these deaths, for in nearly every accident in which a person was killed investigation showed that had the drivers or others concerned been obeying the law, there would have been no fatality.

Americans, particularly those who drive automobiles, have little respect for the law. They break it daily and with no regret. Even fines have failed to impress upon them the need for law obedience. When these methods fail it is apparent that something more severe must be tried. The logical step is the jail sentence. If jail sentences were meted out there is no doubt that there would be a rapid decline in the number of fatalities. Few autoists consider a fine seriously. It is something to be paid and forgotten. But a jail term is different. When a man is sent to prison he has time to think over his transgressions and consider them in an entirely different light than when he committed them.

If we have no laws in this state under which these lawless autoists can be sent to jail, then it is high time the city, county and state officials bestirred themselves and passed this legislation. Fines are of no benefit in curbing this evil. Our mounting death toll proves this. Some other method of dealing with these irresponsible must be tried and the practice of assessing a small fine discontinued.

Very few of these reckless drivers are responsible financially. They usually buy a cheap auto, carry no insurance, nor have they any property. All they have is an automobile. If they injury someone, the car is generally not worth enough to pay the doctor bill. Every driver should be compelled to carry liability insurance, if not for his sake then for the sake of those he injures. Some states have a compulsory liability law and there is no good reason why Wisconsin should not have one. We have hundreds of miles of excellent roads, but it is becoming a nightmare to use them because of the reckless drivers that careen up and down them.

Furthermore this state should have a law licensing all drivers. They should be tested as to their physical and mental qualifications and if they are found incompetent denied the privilege of driving an automobile. At present, the worst mental defective can drive a car and there is no law to stop him, even though the chances are 20 to 1 that he will kill someone before he eventually kills himself. Effective as the jail sentence may be for repressing criminal operation of an automobile, strict licensing of the driver and cancellation of the license and right to drive for an offense, are more effective.

The curbing of reckless driving, licensing all drivers and compulsory liability insurance will go a long way toward reducing the death toll in this state. If the legislature is alive to its duties, it will provide these laws at its next session and not wait until our death toll mounts into the hundreds of thousands before taking action.

BLAINE DISLOYAL TO WATERWAY?

Is the Blaine machine disloyal to the navigation interests of Wisconsin and the lake states? This question is raised by the Washington correspondent of The Post-Crescent, Bascom N. Timmons, in a dispatch Tuesday dealing with Wisconsin politics and the St. Lawrence seaway. It is the impression at the national capital that the interests of the St. Lawrence project have been seriously endangered by the defeat of Senator Lenroot, leader of the Lakes-to-the-Atlantic waterway movement, and the nomination of Blaine.

At any rate, the opponents of the St. Lawrence seaway are viewing the Wisconsin primary with the utmost satisfaction. So are the forces which are behind the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway and the legalization of Chicago's water steal. And all because of Blaine. At the recent platform convention in Madison, which was completely under the control of the Blaine machine, a platform which contained a pledge in favor of the St. Lawrence seaway was voted down, and a platform adopted in which all mention of the St. Lawrence project was carefully suppressed. Certainly the omission was not an oversight. It was done for a deliberate purpose. Further in support of the evidence that the Blaine machine is disloyal to the St. Lawrence seaway enterprise is the fact that the governor four years ago publicly declared for the waterway from Chicago to the gulf, a route that could only become possible by diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago. It is also recalled that Governor Blaine is on record as having severely criticized Attorney General Morgan for filing a suit to stop Chicago's diversion.

It is a most extraordinary thing in itself that the Republican platform of Wisconsin, prepared by the Blaine machine, refuses to indorse the St. Lawrence seaway. We do not know what political game is back of this action, but we may be sure it is a political game of some sort. It is incomprehensible that the people of Wisconsin would send to Washington as United States senator a man opposed to the St. Lawrence seaway or one who would not give it his support, yet that is what it seems to be on the verge of doing. The same may be said of Wisconsin's interest in restraining Chicago's unlawful and excessive diversion of lake water. So far as representation at Washington is concerned, there are no more important matters affecting Wisconsin than these two subjects. Have we reached the point of political blindness in this state where we can close both our eyes and minds to threatened disloyalty and betrayal of a paramount public trust?

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Ya sit before ya radio and turn the dials 'round. Ya monkey with the bloom' set until some spot is found where jazzy music's being played. Ya think it's pretty sof'—and just about that time they say: "Good night, we're signing off."

So, 'round the dials go again. Ya still crave snappy airs. Most any place that broadcasts is all right with you. Who cares, just so the sweetest melodies come in from out of sight. At last, you're in again. And then, "We're signing off. Good night."

Yer bloom' patience sure is tried. And so is every station. Yet, but all sorts of wavelenghts till you've likely scanned the nation. Too often, 'stead of music, do you get a rasp and cough, and sudden declaration that the station's signing off.

What are the wild waves saying? That's a question we've all heard. The answer's very simple. You don't know it. That's absurd. Just tune in on your radio; you'll solve the problem right, and nine times out of ten the waves will simply say, "Good night."

We all can't be president, but most of us have a better time.

Even though you hear a lot about self-made men, you can't think of any men who are not that.

Friday is unlucky. It usually comes the day before payday when you are broke.

Every man is entitled to a living wage, but this doesn't seem to apply to the women.

Bad luck is usually cursed for bad luck, while good luck is taken for granted.

Football's here. We heard a quarterback telephoning and he scared central calling the signals.

Sometimes talk is cheap. Sometimes it isn't. There are times when a little of it costs a man a lot of money.

It takes two to start a fight or a family and too often there isn't so very much difference.

Only a few more weeks until time to start wishing it was summer again.

If it takes all kinds of people to make a world, this one certainly is well made.

THIS IS GOOD MUSIC

Please send me the second symphony asks a St. Paul woman. "I derived oodles of good from the first."

It is so long since the second symphony was published that I myself had almost forgotten about the first. In fact when I glance hastily over the score of the first now and then I wish it might be forgotten and forgiven. There was one movement in the first symphony which probably not even a jazz virtuoso could execute without departing considerably from the text. This was a fault in my recording, which I have disposed of in the conventional manner. There is no serious fault in the second symphony. I make bold to aver. Yet I have not been quite idle since the second symphony was published. No, indeed, for unlike most good doctors I believe in trying my own medicine more or less, and in my own renditions of the second symphony I generally take the liberty to interpolate about two dozen rolls in place of the eighth measure.

Say a half dozen forward and another half dozen coming and going for a grand finale. The somersaults tend to iron out any kinks, cracks or jerms from the general movements of the symphony, and they give renewed assurance of youth. A good many people seem to think that such daily exercises are more beneficial or at least more enjoyable when taken with an accompaniment of music, phonograph, radio, or something like that. All right, if one likes 'em better that way. Personally, I prefer to make my own music.

Improvise the way you go along—sing, whistle, puff or blow or just think. The second symphony should be played in the altogether or if that is too provincial then when one has nothing on. Make it an air bath as well as a course in self discipline. Open the windows and let in all the cold air the season affords. The colder the weather the greater the fun.

Another interpolation I usually add is a series of high kicks at a target suspended from the ceiling. This I believe was especially beneficial in bracing my abdominal wall muscles back into condition after the removal of the appendix. High kicking tends to trim the waist.

The deal reaction to a rendition of the symphony is a profuse sweat. Not that sweating carries out any "poison" or "waste matter" to speak of, but when you sweat freely you may be sure the treatment is activating the old metabolism, and that is fundamentally what daily exercise is good for.

The last printing of 10,000 copies of the symphony was exhausted in a few months. If you have that ambitious feeling I have a fresh edition on the fire, and I should be pleased to mail a copy on request, complete with music, on these conditions: (1) Enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address. (2) Ask for what you want and do not ask for anything else in the same letter. (3) Do not send a clipping or quote from this article.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Acidosis

Please write an article explaining acidosis. Is it a condition which can be remedied by general hygiene, or diet? Does the metabolism test show that it is present? Do young people have it? (Mrs. B. M. J.)

Answer—I have attempted that on one or two occasions, but I conclude it is futile. Acidosis is a state which may occur in the course of various disease conditions in children or adults. It is really a pathological or medical question, and not one of hygiene. The metabolism test indicates some forms of acidosis. The prevention or treatment would depend upon what all the patient. I know of no dietary or hygienic measures which would be suitable—these should be left to the judgment of the physician in the individual case. Acidosis, like high blood pressure, is a subject which laymen are not competent to deal with in any case.

FORGOT A MAYOR
Editor Post-Crescent: Recently a friend of mine sent me the enclosed clipping and in the letter he put a question mark: After reading the clipping I recognized what he referred to.

Your correspondent mentioned all the Mayors Kaukauna ever had but the most important one, ? ? ? Myself.
Do not blame me for shedding tears,
so soon forgotten.

I was elected Mayor in April 1894, defeating Peter Reuter and the next year re-elected defeating my opponent Luther Lindauer. This was the same year that my old friend Peter Thom was elected Mayor of Appleton. This success coupled with the loyal support of such friends from Appleton, as Thomas Pierson, Tom Reid, Peter
Thom, H. G. Freeman and A. E. Whitman was the cause of Governor Ep-ham appointing me State Oil Inspector which office I held during the next six years under Gov. Upham and both terms of Gov. Scofield.

You may be interested in knowing that I have not lost my love for politics even down here in Texas where Republicans are quite scarce. I am the Republican nominee for Congress in the 17th Congressional district, opposing the Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, who has been elected Governor of Texas.
When I tell you that there are probably not to exceed 10,000 Republicans in the 109,000 voters of the district comprising 19 counties you will get some idea of the chances I run to be elected. But I am having a lot of fun out of it speaking in all of the counties before election day spreading the doctrine of the Republican party and perhaps some day you will see a current in the south. We are breeding and importing Republicans pretty fast but converting Democrats down here goes slower.

I still retain my love for my native state and old home at Kaukauna, as evidence of this you may have noticed the articles that have been running in the "Kaukauna Times" on the Revolutionary soldier Captain Hendrick who lies in an unmarked grave at Kaukauna and my effort to get them to erect a tablet to his memory.

Yours very cordially
H. B. Tanner

Q. What percentage of the women of this country are unmarried? T. T. F.

A. Of the 35,177,515 females in the United States as shown by the 1920 census that are fifteen years of age or over, 27.3 per cent were single, 60.8 per cent were married, 11.1 per cent were widowed, and 0.8 per cent were divorced.

Q. How is the width of a railroad track measured to determine whether it is standard gauge or narrow gauge?

H. B. M.

A. The standard gauge of railways is 4 feet 8 1/2 inches, measured from the inside of one rail to the inside of the opposite rail about five eighths of an inch below the top of the rail head. Narrow gauge railroads of 3 or 3 1/2 feet are measured between the top centers of the rails.

Q. What is meant by Flemish bond? G. N. H.

A. In masonry it is the name given to brick laid up in alternate head-ers and stretchers. This style was very popular with early American brick layers.

A. When William H. Vanderbilt died in 1885 he was reputed to be the richest man in the world, his estate approximating $200,000,000.

Q. Who invented the stream-line shell? L. R. W.

A. The stream-line shell is considered not an invention but development. This shell has been in use in various forms in Europe. Experiments and developments made by several countries have improved it.
No one is accredited with its invention.

Q. Please explain the use, value, and natural location of selenium. H.
S. E.

A. Selenium is an element and not found native in visible quantity. It is obtained as a by-product in the electrolytic refining of copper. It is used in making red glass, electric resistances and cells for measuring light. These cells are particularly sensitive to light and many of them come under Swedish patents. The present supply of selenium is greater than the demand and it has no great commercial value.

Q. What is the average cost of an airplane and a hydroplane? K. C. C.

A. It would be hard to give the average cost of a hydroplane and airplane. An airplane of 100 horsepower or would cost from $2,500 to $4,000.
With the increase in the horsepower
the cost increases. The figures for the cost of a hydroplane would run approximately the same.

Q. How long have inheritance taxes been known? H. G.

A. The inheritance tax is a charge or assessment on the succession or devolution of property from a deceased person to his heirs or legatees. Such taxes were imposed in Rome over 2,000 years ago and in some form have been a source of revenue in several of the continental countries of Europe almost since their organization as independent governments. In England, Gladstone called the various inheritance tax charges "death duties," and the name has since come into common usage. The self-governing colonies of Great Britain, particularly Australia and New Zealand, have followed her example, and death duties are one of the chief sources of revenue in those progressive commonwealths.

Taxes of a similar character were imposed by the United States government as a part of its internal revenue system during the Civil War, but were repealed some time after its close.
However, in some form or other, this form of taxation is imposed in a number of states in the United States.

Q. How did the ringing of the cur-few originate? E. C. R.

A. The word is derived from the French "couvre-feu"—cover fire. The ringing of the curfew originated in England by William the Conqueror who ordered that at the ringing of the bell at eight o'clock all lights and fires should be extinguished.

Q. After resuscitating a person who has been rescued from drowning, is it safe to let him walk? G. S. F.

A. The word care should be exercised until the person has fully recovered.
If after being partly resuscitated he must be moved, carry him on a stretcher. It is dangerous to make an all person, or one injured in anyway, sit up or stand. To make him walk might cause his death.

Q. What is the average cost of an airplane and a hydroplane? K. C. C.

A. It would be hard to give the average cost of a hydroplane and airplane. An airplane of 100 horsepower or would cost from $2,500 to $4,000.
With the increase in the horsepower
the cost increases. The figures for the

Two Floors of Good Things To Wear

Good Vision Aided By Adequate Light

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association
Specialist in Eye Diseases
The Health Magazine

Nothing is so important for the production of good work at an efficient speed as good vision. Good vision is itself largely dependent on adequate lighting.

So important is this considered from the standpoint of economics and health that the British government, through its Medical Research Council, undertook a complete investigation of our present knowledge of the relation of illumination to the ability to see accurately.

OBJECTS STUDIED

The shapes and the sizes of the objects studied and the ability of the eye to adapt itself to various degrees of illumination were also concerned. It was found that glare is a serious interference with good vision, and that preferably all sources of light should be at an angle of more than 30 degrees with the line of vision.

Moreover, lampshades, in order to be efficient, should have a considerable area. The disability produced by a frosted lamp is practically the same as that produced by a clear lamp of equal candle power. When it is important to discriminate between various colors, the matter of artificial illumination becomes especially important.

NORMAL EYES

Special studies have also been made of the relation of normal eyes as well as those modified by various anatomical changes to the matter of vision. An eye with stigmatism requires longer for discrimination than does the normal eye with the same amount of illumination. One of the tests of the eye is to fix the gaze definitely on a certain object. With no illumination the eye becomes tired more rapidly than when the illumination is bright. This is only true, however, when glare is avoided by proper placing of lights and the use of suitable shading.

Tests have been made in various manufacturing organizations as to the amount of work performed by employees under various types of illumination, and it has been shown positively that increase in illumination under a well-designed system, with a minimum of glare and objectionable reflections, serves to increase the output of work by a considerable percentage.

BARBERS FLOCK TO APPLETON FOR VALLEY CLINIC

Hundreds of Men Expected

Barber Trade

Many reservations have been received for the first Fox river valley barber's clinic to be held in Appleton next Monday evening. More than 300 barbers from cities between Fond du Lac and Green Bay and as far north as Shawano are expected to attend, according to W. E. Smith, president of Appleton Barber's local, who is in charge of the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Mr. Smith, is to elevate the barber trade and to show the barbers' modern and efficient methods of serving the public. Lectures, demonstrations and addresses will be given by factory representatives of barber supply companies and national officers of labor organizations.

Speakers include M. H. Whitaker of Milwaukee, second vice president of the international union; A. Warmly of Minneapolis, Minn., second vice president of the Master Barber's association of the United States.

Word has been received from Milwaukee by Mr. Smith that several leading city barbers will attend the clinic. It is the first of its kind to be held in the state outside of Milwaukee and is expected to be one of the largest state gatherings of barbers.

The clinic has been meeting with great favor with the barbers throughout the valley, according to Mr. Smith.

The meeting will be opened with a banquet at 7 o'clock at Hotel Appleton and the demonstrations and lectures will take place after the dinner. A special platform with two barber chairs has been arranged for the convenience of the men giving the demonstrations.

JAPS SURE TO SEIZE ISLES IF U. S. LETS GO

"If the United States relinquished supervision of the Philippine islands, Japan would immediately pounce upon them and take possession, as the natives are not capable of handling their own freedom." Prof. J. R. Denyes of Lawrence college said in an address at the weekly meeting of the Knights of Pythias at the club rooms, Thursday evening.

Dr. Denyes said that Japan was spreading propaganda that she did not have room to expand, that her country is overcrowded and she protests the exclusion act of the United States.

Dr. Denyes also told of his experiences as a missionary in Java and Borneo and of the customs of the people and their method of raising rubber, tobacco and sugar. He also told of the enormous riches gathered by Chinese men who act as the middle men between the white buyers and the native growers.

HISTORIANS TO PORTRAY FARMER

Early State Agriculture Will Be Featured at Historical Meeting

Madison—(AP)—Changing social and economic conditions in the United States needs to be studied more closely by historians, Frederick J. Turner, professor emeritus of history in Harvard university, said in a statement issued Friday by the American Historical association.

The statement was made in connection with the endowment fund of $1,000,000 which the association is seeking to raise to provide for historical research.

"Regions are forming in the United States which bid fair to supplement the state in our government structure," asserted Prof. Turner, a former University of Wisconsin professor.

"The history of regional geography, of votes in Congress, of regions in administrative organizations like the Federal Reserve and the farm loan district, and of regions in economic and cultural integration, from earliest times down, must be seriously studied if we are to understand the present America and the trend toward the future."

"Literature, culture in general, even religion, all need to be restudied by the historian, and is too often handled by the historian, in the light of the changing social and economic conditions of the different periods and regions of America."

"A wise understanding of our relations to Europe and to South America requires that the history of these nations should be independently studied by American scholars and seen through American eyes."

The universities of the country cannot be asked upon exclusively to produce these studies, according to Prof. Turner, who said that it was "folly to expect poorly paid teachers to make up to large part of the rank and file of the Association to furnish the funds by which these independent researches can be carried on."

"If America's past is to be used to help us to understand her present, and her place in, and possible contributions to, the world, American history must be given such liberal treatment in the way of endowments as come to science and the so-called 'practical' fields," he added.

"Endowments are given in great amounts to science, pure and applied, to hospitals, economic institutes, political science organizations and similar facilities for studying the present."

"But the nation is in danger of forgetting that it was a past and that it believed it had a message for the world based upon its own peculiar experiences, institutions and ideals."

"The colleges exact almost all the time of the historical staff in classroom teaching and in administration. To make possible adequate historical research and publication, there should be endowments administered by the American Historical Association through its appropriate bodies independent of universities, awards for special historical researches, funds for travel to scattered libraries in the United States, and funds for publication."

THEFT OF CARS DUE TO FAULT OF MOTORISTS

Average American Owner Encourages Thieves by Neglecting to Lock Machines

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
American motorists are paying higher insurance premiums on their automobiles because of their carelessness and forgetfulness.

They are losing from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year let alone time from their work and use of their cars.

This loss is the result of the growth of automobile thefts that is going on apace with the increase in motor cars. Despite greater vigilance on the part of the police and some 150 different locking devices, these thefts are growing and making this problem more difficult to solve.

Only 30 per cent of all motorists are insured against theft of their automobiles, and only 20 per cent of the insured cars stolen are not recovered. Yet this small proportion of all the cars in the country, perhaps only about 50,000 cars in all, brings their loss up to some $50,000,000.

These figures are furnished by the American Automobile association and the National Automobile Underwriters' conference, and may be taken as authentic.

OWNER DOESN'T HELP
The aggravating point is that these thefts aren't in the least way discouraged by the average driver. He just forgets, or doesn't take the additional pains to lock his car.

Out of 100 cars examined on New York streets recently, only 30 were found locked. In Buffalo 67 cars were examined, and only 8 were found locked. Yet all the cars were equipped with locks.

The underwriters have collected statistics showing that 85 per cent of the cars equipped with approved locking devices are habitually left unlocked when parked.

As a result, insurance companies are planning to change the requirements of their policies, dropping their present offer of reduced rates if the car is equipped with a lock and merely assigning a rate based on experience with the various types of cars.

Yet locking devices aren't to be discouraged. They are wanted. Their effectiveness depends however on educating the driver to form the habit of locking the car.

TYPES OF LOCKS
Due to the difficulty of doing this, underwriters say the best type of lock is what they call the "coincidental lock," which locks the car in the same action in which the ignition is shut off. The motorist, they reason, doesn't forget to shut off the ignition when he parks. Having formed a habit of that, the same action should be used to lock the car.

Many types of ignition and other forms of "coincidental locks" are the result. They lock with the ignition, and just a quarter additional turn of the key unlocks them.

Garage men object to these however because the cars can't be moved freely.

So the underwriters approve other forms of locks that are semi-coincidental, or require an additional operation before leaving the car. There is the transmission lock, the wheel lock

KELLER PLANNED NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

The $200,000 high school building recently dedicated in Eau Claire was planned and built under the direction of Paul C. W. Keller, superintendent of schools, and formerly principal of Appleton high school. Mr. Keller was in Appleton from 1909 to 1920, when he went to Waukegan to be connected with the public school system. For the last two or three years he has held his present position in Eau Claire.

This is one of the finest school buildings in the state, educators have said, and the equipment is especially complete. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, gave the dedication address.

PLACE LUGS ON BINDERS FOR CUTTING CORN CROP

Blacksmiths throughout the rural districts are busy placing lugs, iron and wood, on the binders of farmers who are preparing to cut their corn crops. Because of heavy rains the fields are muddy and the farmers cannot cut the crop unless such lugs are used. Many of the farmers have the lug system and they report it satisfactory.

Although the corn suffered from heavy frost last week, the farmers, if can get it cut and put into silos before another similar frost, may not lose much of its value as silage. Many farmers are filling silos as fast as the corn is cut. It is expected that all corn will be cut and silos filled within two weeks if weather conditions do not interfere.

HIGH SCHOOL CONDUCTS ITS FIRST FIRE DRILL

Appleton high school students had the first fire drill of the season Tuesday afternoon. The sections of the building which used the front door were emptied in 30 seconds and those using the side doors in one minute and 20 seconds, it was said.

TEXAS PLAINS ARE BIG GARDEN DUE TO RAINS

San Antonio—(AP)—The great cattle country of Southwest Texas, usually an expanse of scrubland plains and hills in fact as well as in the minds of readers of western fiction this summer is a veritable garden.

Due to the abnormal rains the grass is thick and long, and there is more range than is needed for the hundreds of thousands of grazing cattle.

Cattlemen say that not in several years has there been so much vegetation in the country between San Antonio and El Paso. Last year was a year of severe drought. Cattle men anticipate better profits than have been their lot in several years.

and other forms that come in this class. The transmission lock has the objection of keeping the car in neutral, when it should best be left in gear when facing down a steep hill, for example, to help the emergency brake control the car.

So it is found each type of lock has its peculiar disadvantage.

Despite these minor faults, however, the argument is presented that these locks at least will discourage the thief from trying to steal the car.

OFFICE STUDENTS GET EXPERIENCE

Girls Are Assigned to Special Duties in Office of Principal

Actual office experience is being given to girls in the practice office teaching class under the direction of Miss Mae Webster at Appleton high school. Special assignments have been made for duties in the principal's office such as mimeographing and compiling records, and last week a group worked part-time in the superintendent's office.

The 20 girls in the class are now making permanent record cards for the sophomore class and any other new students in the school. The junior high school record is taken from transfer cards sent from those schools. Previous to the Y. M. C. A.

WILL COMPLETE PLANS FOR POLICE CONVENTION

Final arrangements for the most important program ever contemplated for the annual convention of state police next week. It was announced by Police Chief George T. Prim. The meetings will be held in Milwaukee on Oct. 12 and 14. Including speakers it is expected that approximately 200 persons will attend, the chief said. Headquarters will be at the Plankinton hotel. Speakers, fully acquainted with various specialties of police work, from leading centers of the country are expected to address the gatherings.

membership campaign the class mimeographed some material to be used in the drive.

Later in the year two girls probably will be used in the principal's office at each period in the day to assist in the routine office work. It is the aim of the instructor to give practical experience throughout the year. In order to better prepare the girls for taking office positions after leaving school.

SCHUMANN, HEINK SINGS PROGRAM IN GREEN BAY

Nearly five decades of music lovers have been packing opera houses and concert halls to enjoy the art of Madame Schumann-Heink and still each year finds her more popular than ever. Her public appearance began when she was sixteen and now she is sixty-four—the mother of seven and the grandmother of ten—and still she is the greatest of contraltos. Her wonderful voice and artistry, which thrilled Europe about half century ago; that America first heard with De Reszkes, Plancon, Eames, Nordica and Benary, more than a score of years ago; that cheered the doughboy on his way to France, and on his return comforted him in Army Camps and Hospitals, will be heard at Green Bay in the spacious and beautiful Auditorium of the Columbus Community Club on October 6. The sale of tickets for the concert which Madame Schumann-Heink will give is now open. All correspondence may be addressed to W. F. Kerwin, Manager of the Auditorium. Advance inquires indicate unusual interest by local music lovers in the program to be presented by Madame Schumann-Heink, who in spite of her sixty-four years, still remains the foremost singer of her time.

London—The river Jordan, in Palestine, is being harnessed to a new duty—electrical power. Bernard Flexner, president of the Palestine Economic Corporation, has announced that a hydro-electric station is to be erected on the Jordan's banks to supplement power from oil engine generators at Haifa, Tiberias and other points.

W. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and aching. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

ASK 30 MILLION TO ENFORCE DRY LAW NEXT YEAR

Cost of Prohibition Enforcement Increasing Every Year

Washington.—Prohibition enforcement in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1927, will cost close to $30,000,000 and may possibly exceed that amount, according to figures compiled by Herbert Lord, director of the budget.

This became known coincident with an announcement made by Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of dry law enforcement, that for the new fiscal year congress will be asked to make an appropriation of $13,000,000 for allocation among the 24 regional prohibition districts. This is about the amount that has been allowed in the current year.

The remainder of the $30,000,000 needed in the new year to make the Volstead law effective will be expended by the coast guard, the customs office and other agencies that cooperate with the prohibition unit.

COOLIDGE FOR "ADEQUATE FUNDS"

The budget upon which this winter's appropriation will be based was the subject of a conference early in August between President Coolidge and Director Lord. At that time departmental estimates were slashed $100,000,000, but no changes were made in the demands of Gen. Andrews. It was announced then that the president was insistent that adequate funds should be allowed in order that prohibition might be made to prohibit, and that Gen. Andrews was the best judge of just how much money was required to enforce the Volstead act in the spirit in which it was enacted by congress.

While details of the chapter of the budget dealing with prohibition are withheld, it is understood that about $14,000,000 would be asked to defray the anti-smuggling operations of the coast guard. The lion's share of this allotment would be expended in maintaining the dry armada on the Atlantic coast and in the Gulf of Mexico. The total appropriations this year for all branches of prohibition enforcement is a little in excess of $29,000,000.

HIGHER RECEIPTS SEEN
Gen. Andrews expects that receipts of the prohibition service from confiscations and assessments this year will exceed $60,000,000, the amount collected on that account in 1925. New regulations governing the assessment of penalties will be sent to the administrators early in October.

The department of justice announced Tuesday that reports from the various judicial districts indicate progress in prohibition enforcement. There were 44,022 convictions in federal courts under the national prohibition act during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926. This is the largest number of convictions in any year since the prohibition law went into effect. The number of dry case acquittals in federal courts was 520 less than in the preceding year.

1,100 MORE YEARS HANDED OUT

Another indication of progress in law enforcement, according to the department of justice, is the increase in length of jail and prison sentences. The average sentence during the last year was five days longer than in the preceding year. The aggregate jail and prison sentences given by federal judges for the 44,000 convictions was 5,666 years. This is almost 1,100 years more of sentences than were imposed in the previous year. Fines imposed in federal courts for prohibition law violations totaled $7,336,537, the average fine being $166.

"The fact that the average fine was somewhat less than the year before is accepted as indicating that the

HISTORIANS ARE URGED TO STUDY CHANGES CLOSELY

Professor Says New Regions Are Forming in United States

Madison.—(AP)—Early Wisconsin agriculture will have the center of the stage at the next annual homecoming of the State Historical society, Dr. Joseph Schafer, superintendent said Friday.

The first "homecoming" of the society on August 7 this year was so successful that another will be held on a more elaborate scale next year, Dr. Schafer said. The display of relics in the State Historical library here attracted 350 visitors, including 150 from outside of Madison.

An agriculture history exhibit is contemplated as the feature of the next homecoming. A committee composed of agricultural editors of the state is engaged in working out the plans.

The centennial of the discovery of the southwestern Wisconsin lead and zinc region will add significance to the occasion. The region was settled in 1827, although its development was interrupted by insurrection of the Winnebago Indians under Red Bird.

"The homecoming will offer a fine opportunity for a centennial exhibit," Dr. Schafer said. "We expect to connect many other exhibits with it."

It is proposed that a pioneer log house be moved to the University of Wisconsin campus and be used as the site of the agricultural history exhibit. Under tentative plans, a large number of farm pictures, including reproductions of herds, flocks and other

The log house would be headquarters for the farm folk who come to see the exhibit. Scythes, oxbows, cradles and similar equipment of early day farms would be hung on pegs in the walls.

It is even proposed that contests be conducted in mowing with oldtime scythes, and in the use of the other implements.

GIRLS ARE BEST STUDENTS HERE, RECORDS PROVE

Co-eds Complete School Year at Lawrence With Average of 83.3

Girls at Lawrence college had a considerably higher scholastic average than boys for the year 1925-1926, according to a statement of Olin A. Meade, registrar, this week. The average of the girls was 83.3 per cent and of the boys 79.8. Members and non-members of fraternities and sororities averaged about the same during the year, it was said.

to the group having the highest record for the second consecutive year. The organization has an average grade of 85.24 per cent for the entire year. Alpha Delta Pi sorority had the highest average for the last two quarters of the year but its average for the first quarter was low enough to keep the organization out of first place.

Beta Sigma Phi fraternity with an average of 81.96 per cent took the fraternity cup from Phi Kappa Tau fraternity which had held it for several terms.

Other fraternity averages were: Sigma Phi Epsilon, 81.05; Theta Phi, 80.9; Psi Chi Omega, 79.63; Delta Iota, 79.25; Phi Kappa Tau, 78.27; Delta Sigma Tau, 78.2; Phi Kappa Alpha, 78.2. CHILDREN NEED CITY BALL TITLE
CLOSER CONTACT GOES TO HOMANS
WITH PARENTSDr. Wriston Points Out
What's Wrong With Youth
in Talk to P-T Club

Kaukauna—One of the largest crowds ever at a Parent-Teachers association meeting held by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, speak in the west assembly of the Kaukauna high school building Thursday evening. The theme was "What's Wrong With Youth." Dr. Wriston said he shared some of the pessimism other people held toward the rising generation but only that which was reasonable. "The dawn and horror with which present day parents regard the coming people is reasonable," Dr. Wriston said. "For youth is always alarming. Who can not look back upon his youth without feeling a great wave of horror surging through him?"

"It will never be safe to be young, and that is the first trouble with youth," Dr. Wriston said. "Youth is a fixed point and it is a bit of landscape seen from a fixed moving train. At first it looks one way and then as you draw farther away it looks different. So with youth, it is constantly changed by the atmosphere through which we are looking. And it takes young people to understand young people and that is the reason I always like to have several young instructors on my faculty for they understand the students much easier than we older people do."

"The second thing that is wrong with youth is that they are so indiscreet as to be in a congregated age. There was not so much danger in the pioneer age when there were no automobiles to bother one on the main streets of a town. Youth in a slow moving age is very simple."

Dr. Wriston then told a bit about his life on a farm one mile square where the only thing that ever happened to him was when he fell off a horse. He compared travel in those days with travel now. Dr. Wriston said that we are living in a fast moving age and the children of today must learn faster if they are to exist.

"The third wrong with youth," continued Dr. Wriston, "is that the parents aren't what they used to be. In the days when the present day parents were children sons like Red Hot Mama were never heard. Parents these days don't spend as many evenings home as they did in those days. There are not as many parlor stoves as there used to be and there are not so many sitting around the parlor stove as there used to be."

"That youth is living in a period of disillusionment is the fourth thing wrong with them. Look back to the Hague Peace conference of 1899 when the European leaders said 'Let's not have any more war, let's settle everything by arbitration' and then think of what happened in 1914. The war upset the fundamental faith of thousands of people. After every war there is a period of corruption."

"Years ago it was uncommon for children to work from 12 to 15 hours in British coal mines. Abraham Lincoln had no youth and even his jokes show a tinge of sorrow to them. It takes a longer time to become educated now because of the faster moving world. Students who come to school with money jingling in their pockets are more of a problem than those who work their way."

"People now put the burden of educating youth on the teacher but it is impossible to build character in school unless there is a foundation to work on and the parents must build the foundation. Parents must become acquainted with their children. It wouldn't pay to put a dollar in the endowment fund of a college unless the parents did their duty and right now Lawrence is looking for an endowment fund of $3,000,000," concluded Dr. Wriston.

Other modeling on the program included a riddle by Carl Kuebler and a harmonica specialty by Leo Robideau. Miss Jeanette Manville read one of Richard Harding Davis' novels. A short business meeting followed the program. The treasurer's report showed a deficit of $7.65.

HIGH SCHOOL RANKS
LOW IN STUDENT THRIFT

Kaukauna—Kaukauna High school ranks thirty-second in the state of Wisconsin in thrift for the year 1925 according to a report just made public. With an enrollment of 232 only 42.6 per cent of the student body deposited money in the school bank during the year 1925. High at Green Bay had the best record in the middle west. With an enrollment of 705 students, 55.6 per cent made deposit in the bank. Stevens Point is second with 59.2 per cent while Oconto Falls is third with 57.5 per cent. Other schools heading the list are: Edgerton, 96.4; Manitowish, 91.1; Marshfield, 91; West Allis, 90.3; Fond du Lac, 89.8; Janesville, 88.6; Oshkosh, 88.2; Ashland, 87.1; Janesville, 86.7; East Green Bay, 85.5; Antioch, 84.4; Starkeon Bay, 83.8 and Appleton, 83.5.

A campaign is being inaugurated in Kaukauna High school to beat Appleton in thrift as well as football. Bank day at high school is on Tuesday.

Defeat Bankers 9 to 6 in Final Game of City Series

Kaukauna—Homan's soft ball team won the "little world series" Thursday evening when it defeated the Bankers 9 to 6. This made the third win for Homans. Homans were the winners of the first half of the league schedule and finished at the bottom of the first division in the second half. The Bankers started the scoring by getting a run home in the first half of the first inning, but the Homans took the lead by scoring four in their half. Homans took a bigger lead by scoring again in the second and Bankers gained one in the third. Homans got another run in the fourth on two hits and it took six hits for the Bankers to get four runs in the sixth, neither side having scored in the fifth. With the count knotted at six all Homans went on a batting rampage in their half of the sixth and scored three runs. The Bankers couldn't do a thing in the seventh though they tried desperately to rally. The Bankers got 14. Wilhelm, Walters, and Brenzel scored for the Bankers and Brenzel and J. Phillips got three hits each for the Homans. Ruspies got two hits one of which was a triple.

The lineup: Bankers—Laxon, Wahler, Brenzel, P. Olin, H. Olin, Hansen, Spindler, Wolfenbach, Johnson, Brouchek, Homans—Peters, Brenzel, J. Phillips, Ruspies, C. Phillips, Rennie, Hansen, Towsey and Nichols.

GRIDDERS READY TO MEET SHAWANO

Smithmen Expect Hard Battle With Northern Football Team

Kaukauna—Kaukauna High school is prepared to meet Shawano on the gridiron Saturday afternoon. The game is called for 2:30. The Orange and Black gridders have put in an intensive week of practice and are in fine condition to meet Coach Gunderson's outfit from the north. The Red and White has a strong team despite the fact that it lost Sturm, its two-hundred pound center, in the game with Appleton. Shawano has shown considerable improvement since its game with Appleton and Kaukauna must look for a hard struggle.

The Orange and Black will start the game with the same lineup used in the Oshkosh game. It is quite possible that the Smithmen will resort to a passing attack more frequently in this game than they did in the last one. They have also strengthened their defense against an aerial attack. The old bleachers on the south side of the field have been removed and knock-down bleachers have been put up in their place. This will enable more people to sit down at the game than was possible at the last game. The new row of the bleachers is reserved for the Rah Rah girls.

A late supper was served by the hostesses.

TO FARM HOMEBlaze Is Extinguished and New Car Is Saved at Risk of Driver's Life

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—After discovering her new Buick car in flames and falling in her efforts to extinguish the fire, Mrs. Herman Becker alone on a country road at 5 o'clock in the morning, again took the driver's seat and, though expecting momentarily to be blown to bits drove the car to the nearest farmhouse where the fire was smothered.

Mrs. Becker was on her way to Milwaukee Saturday morning to spend the weekend with her daughter, who is attending Milwaukee normal. Mrs. Becker had been cautioned about driving the new car at a high rate of speed so began her trip to the city unusually early. She had reached the edge of the Hortonville-New London road when glancing backward noticed a light which she supposed to be the headlights of an approaching car.

No car passing her, she stepped and when one of the car found the entire rear end in flames. Snatching off her coat she attempted to smother the blaze but this only spread the fire to the entire under parts of the car. Knowing she couldn't save the car alone, she took the wheel and drove on to the Lathrop farm where members of the family aided her in extinguishing the fire with water.

It was later discovered that the fire was caused by the burning out of the new brake linings, which in turn ignited the fresh oil on the chassis. The body of the car was blistered.

HARVEST FESTIVAL
PLANS ARE DROPPED

New London—Lacking the support necessary to further plans for the Harvest Festival which was recently announced, sponsors of the project have decided to cancel the event. Reasons given by merchants generally pointed to the facts that available money was not to be had at the present time and that too many farmers of the community would be busy on the farms at the time that the community festival was suggested.

Only a small gathering of farmers and their families were in town Tuesday for the farm and city get together on stock fair day. The program, which included the customary races, contests and specialties, was cancelled because of poor attendance. Farmers at this time are so busily engaged in harvesting their crops that only a few came in.

The main feature of the day was the women's life saving demonstration which was staged with the local firemen in charge.

The next stock fair day will be held October 26.

WON'T INSTALL NEW

New London—New boilers in the city hall will not be installed at the present time, according to city officials. The old boilers are being repaired, all leaks will be fixed and everything done to prepare for the coming winter without adding expense to the city exchequer.

Since the opening of the Groet alleys three years ago, has met with considerable interest among New London men and women. It is expected that leagues will be formed and a series of scheduled games played throughout the winter season. The alleys are being made ready, the interior being changed and the floor which in summer is used for dancing is being taken up in sections to make way for bowling.

PASSIONATE ADVENTURE

As a spinner of exciting yarns, E. Phillips Oppenheim is in a class by himself. He writes stories that tell themselves in action and are therefore much better suited for screen adaptation than the works of more literary authors.

Among his recent novels, "The Passionate Quest" stood out as almost perfect photoplay material, and it has been turned into a quite perfect picture by J. Stuart Blackton, who made the production for Warner Bros., and it is showing at the Elite theatre for the last time today.

The leading roles are played by May McAvoy, Willard Louis and Louise Fazenda, supported by a cast that includes Gardner James, Jane Winton, Holmes Herbert, De Witt Jennings, Vera Lewis, Nora Cecil and Frank Harford.

The story tells of the attempt of a trio of small town English people to conquer the London world of business literature and the stage. It makes stimulating entertainment.

A NEW STAR RISES ON THE FILM FIRMAMENT

The screen's newest star will make his bow before Appleton audiences at the Appleton Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

VALLEY SEWAGE IS DISCUSSED AT CITY HALL

Municipality Representatives
Meet to Consider Proposal of Combined Locks

The feasibility of the proposed sewage disposal plant for joint use of all cities and villages between Neenah and Kaukauna was discussed by representatives of these municipalities at the city hall here Friday afternoon. The meeting was called by Mayor Albert C. Rule.

C. M. Baker, state sanitary engineer, was unable to attend. He informed Mayor Rule by telephone Friday morning it would be impossible for him to leave Madison but he indicated his willingness to be present at another meeting of this nature, perhaps in the last week in October.

Construction of a sewage plant for use of all valley cities between Neenah and Kaukauna was suggested several weeks ago by Combined Locks following a meeting of the village board.

The village had submitted plans to the state board of health, but because the plans failed to provide for construction of a sewage disposal plant, the health officials refused to approve them. No more sewage systems in which sewage is dumped into lakes or streams will be permitted in the state, the village board was informed.

The state health authorities also indicated they might take steps in the future to stop cities now disposing of their sewage in this way, according to Combined Locks.

Believing that joint construction of such a plant would be much cheaper than would the individual construction in each of the cities concerned, the village engineer prepared plans for the system under consideration. A copy of the plans was submitted to each of the various municipalities in this district, as well as instructions to notify Mayor Rule whether they would be willing to attend a meeting to give the matter more thorough consideration.

Mayor Rule also was authorized by the village board to call the meeting here if the majority of municipality heads favored the gathering. Since that time every city and village except Kaukauna approved of the meeting.

Partridge Hunters Go After Birds Tomorrow

Notice to partridge and their fans. Before the next four days for the hunters gonna get you if you don't watch out.

Friday saw a great culling of guns, grooming of dogs and procuring of hunting licenses in Appleton and throughout the state. The open season on partridge opens Saturday morning and continues for four days. The bag allowance if the limit is taken is five birds for each hunter each day.

Hunting partridge before Oct. 2, or after Oct. 5, is illegal. The difficulty attendant on getting this particular form of game has made partridge shooting one of the most popular sports with Wisconsin sportsmen.

County Clerk John E. Hantschel said Friday that so far his office has issued more than 750 hunting licenses and that it is impossible to estimate the exact number that have been purchased from notaries throughout the county but it is thought that considerably more than 2,000 permits are now operative.

There was an increase of applications noted Thursday and Friday but whether this can be ascribed to the opening of the partridge season or not could not be determined, it was stated.

Not a single contribution to the Florida Relief fund was received at the chamber of commerce office since Thursday. It was reported Friday morning. The fund now totals approximately $255.

The campaign being conducted by the community welfare committee of the chamber of commerce will close Wednesday, Oct. 6. No money will be accepted after that time, the committee pointed out. Those in charge of the work are desirous of turning over at least $500 to the Red Cross which will in turn distribute the fund in Florida for relief of the section on the eastern coast devastated by the recent hurricane. The committee has issued a plea for more contributions to enable it to at least reach the $500 mark.

A letter from R. J. Blank, president of the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., chamber of commerce, thanking the relief work, was received by the local chamber Friday morning. The letter acknowledged receipt of one from Hugh G. Corbett dated Sept. 25 in which the latter informed Mr. Blank that an effort would be made here to help the southern state.

Only four more days remain before the campaign ends, the committee pointed out Friday. Checks for the fund should be made payable to the Florida Relief fund.

The Rev. Alois Hesor, a missionary in China, for 20 years, left for Milwaukee after visiting relatives in Menasha, Kimberly and Appleton.

PUMPKINS DON'T PEEP FROM CORN FIELDS ANY MORE

The days of golden yellow pumpkins peeping from among the corn stalks in the fields throughout the country has passed, according to rural carriers at the Appleton post office. Because of the automatic corn binders, the pumpkins and vines are discarded because they impede the progress of the machine.

The beautiful sight of a freshly cut field of corn stubble among which the green and yellow of the pumpkin vines and pumpkins peep out like the eyes of a cat at night, are a thing of the past. Modern speed and methods have demanded the passing of an old custom that meant "pumpkin pies, pipin' hot," and jack-o-lanterns for Halloween. However farmers do spare a bit of their hand and raise a few pumpkins for their personal use.

Soy beans and sun flowers also had been tried but were found to be as big a hindrance to cutting corn as the pumpkins vines. Sunflowers seeds are used as feed for chickens.

ANOTHER BOY WINS WAY INTO "Y" HONOR CLUB

Membership in the Spitzerington club of the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. was increased to ten Thursday when Fred Marshall joined the honor group by obtaining 3 new members for the association. To join the club a boy must get at least three members for which he receives a red star. A blue star member has turned in at least five memberships and a gold star man at least ten.

Karl Ek leads the club with his second blue star, which means he has brought in at least 15 members. He received red, blue and gold awards and then another red and blue. Two other members are in the gold star class. Lyonel Krueger made the grade Wednesday and Horace Davis was added Thursday.

FARM WORK AGAIN DELAYED BY RAIN

Farmers in Outagamie-co., received another setback in their harvesting work on account of the rains Thursday night and Friday morning. The fields had just begun to be dry enough so that men could get on them to work, but this rain will mean another delay of several days. Some farmers are trying to cut their corn, in spite of the mud, by placing lugs on the wheels of their binders. The plan seems to be successful.

GUARDSMEN HOLD PISTOL CONTEST

Soldiers Shoot for Prizes and for Military Records

Enlisted men and officers of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, will take part in a record qualification pistol shoot at the company outdoor range on School Section Sunday, according to Capt. E. F. Grundeman. The shoot will start about 8:30 in the morning.

The shoot will consist of a dismounted pistol course and will enable the guardsmen to qualify for marksman and expert sharpshooter badges. If the weather is bad the shoot will be cancelled so as not to endanger any man's chance to win the honors. Twenty shooters are expected to take part.

Besides being for record qualification for the badges, the meet will be run on a competitive basis with prizes for winners. Only enlisted men will be eligible for the competitive prizes. The officers will be restricted to qualification for record.

The Badger Military club cup and a medal donated by the Oney Johnson post of the American legion will be awarded to the high enlisted man in the competition. Second high enlisted man will receive a second place medal from the legion. High man in rapid firing will be given a cup donated by the A. Gajpans Sons Hardware Co. The winner of high type honors will receive a cup donated by the Pettibone-Peabody Co. High tyro award is given to the recruit who gets the highest score of the competition. Only new men who have never taken part in a company pistol competition are eligible for this prize.

SET DATE FOR SWISS MUSICIANS' CONCERT

Swiss yodelers and entertainers will present a concert at Eagle hall Tuesday, Oct. 12, and the concert will be sponsored by the Appleton Maennerchor. David Muench, Rudolph Pasch and Rudolph Hopfgartner are members of the committee in charge of arrangements.

After the concert, the Swiss musicians will furnish music for a dance. The concert will consist of singing, yodeling, vocal and instrumental numbers.

Miss Ella Nickash was elected president of the class of 1927 of the Appleton Vocational school at the annual teacher-student party, Thursday evening. Teachers of the school entertained the students at a dinner at 6:30 and the business and organization meeting of the class was held after the meeting. About 85 students and teachers attended.

Lawrence Hurlt was elected vice president and Harold Miller was elected secretary treasurer. A program of activities for the coming year was discussed. Community singing and a program of special numbers followed the business meeting.

A silver cup donated by George Dame, commander of the Oney Johnson post of the American Legion, will be awarded to the Outagamie-co. post which reports the largest increase in membership by Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Mr. Dame announced the award at the September meeting of the county council of the Legion Thursday evening at the Congress hotel, Kaukauna. The contest was to start immediately.

Sixteen Legionnaires representing every post in the county attended the meeting. Cities represented were Seymour, Hortonville, New London, Kimberly, Little Chute, Kaukauna and Appleton. Oney Johnson post, was represented by Mr. Dame, John E. Hantschel and Alfred C. Bosser.

What Are Your Children Reading?

There is no more important problem for the parents of growing children than the supervision of their reading.

But books for children are difficult to choose. Child standards must be remembered and it is not easy for a grown person to get a child's point of view.

The little ones should be given only books by the great child-loving and child-understanding authors which hold true to the standards which govern good literature and good art.

There are many books that come under the above classification. The best of them are listed in "One Thousand useful books" a booklet which this Bureau has for distribution. Included are books for children under eight, books for boys and girls from eight to twelve, and books for older children.

Enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

Oneida Man, Under Heavy Guard, Is Arraigned in Municipal Court

Brought into court under heavy guard late Thursday afternoon, Steve Gaunt, town of Oneida farmer charged with slaying William School last Sunday heard the complaint and warrant charging first degree murder and was bound over to circuit court by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court.

The next step will be for the district attorney to notify the trial judge, Judge Edgar V. Werner, and it is probable that the fact that Gaunt is believed to be insane will be put before Judge Werner.

In the event that the jurist believes the evidence brought out so far sufficient a lunacy commission will be appointed to pass on Gaunt's sanity, it was stated.

The prisoner walked quietly into the courtroom between an escort of two deputy sheriffs with Sheriff Peter G. Schwartz leading the procession. Gaunt's eyes roved over the scattering of curious and witnesses gathered in the room but he made no effort to speak and appeared to be searching the faces in the crowd for an acquaintance or relatives.

Pale but self contained the alleged killer gave no visible evidence of the almost demonic rages he is reported to have been subject to during the several days he has spent in the county jail.

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf appeared for the state. Gaunt was not represented by counsel.

Were Judge Werner to decide that Gaunt should stand before the court the prisoner would be granted jury trial in the usual form.

Conventions And Such Are Fine For City, Muses Bert

Conventions and such, mused A. K. Ellis, vice-president and general manager of the W. T. L. H. and P. Co. are a mighty fine thing for the city and the boys should get together and make it convenient for the strangers within the gates.

The result of the imaginary soliloquy resulted in Mr. Ellis offering the parking space at N. Oneida and Washington-st. to the city.

When announcement was made that the safety councils were to be in session here Wednesday the parking space was closed to all but visiting automobiles.

Bright and early Wednesday Mr. Ellis drove to the corner and started to drive onto the lot to park his car. "Can't park here today, sir," said the officer on duty.

"I can't—park—here—and why can't I park here?" Mr. Ellis inquired.

"Police orders, visitors only."

The whisper of rumor has it that at least a rather surprised expression spread over the countenance of the traction official.

"Want a visitor's sticker for your car?" Mr. Ellis was asked.

Not by a couple of isolated mill sites, I don't, Mr. Ellis might have said.

"I give 'em the parking lot and then I can't park on it myself," reliable sources of information declared Mr. Ellis was heard to remark sotto voce.

Conventions and such, mused Mr. Ellis, as he backed his machine from the lot and pulled it up to a less satisfactory parking spot, are a mighty fine thing for the city and the boys should get together.

"Betcha life, they should!"

SPEND $200,000 FOR CRANBERRY ADVERTISING

Washington, D. C. — Cranberries, which are grown almost exclusively in three states—Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New Jersey are to be advertised to the world, according to information received by the Department of Agriculture.

An extensive advertising and publicity campaign has been planned by the American Cranberry Exchange, New York City, in connection with the marketing of the 1926 crop. The sum of $200,000 has been appropriated for the purpose of calling "Eatmore" cranberries to the attention of the public. The campaign is to cover the next three months and plans include the expenditure of $65,000 for advertisements in the women's magazines.

The leading metropolitan daily papers are to run large display copy, and domestic science speakers at 54 high power radio stations are to tell American housewives about cranberries twice each week during the season. In addition to this 30,000 letters are to be mailed to retail dealers explaining this publicity campaign, and a series of lessons on cooking and serving of cranberries will be sent to 3,000 domestic teachers for use in their class rooms.

Baker, supervisor of music. Eighty of these pupils have never before received instruction in piano playing and the others were registered in Dr. Baker's classes last year.

Children from 8 to 14 years are eligible for the classes, and the courses have been arranged so that they may be continued for three years, although it has been found, Dr. Baker said, that the majority of the pupils take private piano instruction after the first year of the Melody Way lessons. This class instruction is given by means of charts, thereby enabling many children to learn to play at the same time under the same teacher. Most of the children are able to play with both hands after four months of this teaching, it was said, and often this is an unusual record for private instruction pupils. The reason for greater advancement in the classes is largely due to the element of competition which is lacking in the private lessons, Dr. Baker believed.

Members of the third year classes at Lawrence conservatory will assist Dr. Baker in the instruction work. The three assistants are graduates of the second year piano course. Miss Margaret Goud, Miss Grace Morrison and Miss Lucille Bitters have been appointed to do the work.

McIntyre's plumbing and heating shop, Ciske Bros' poolrooms and the Menasha club were badly drenched by the rain early Friday morning. A new roof is being put on the building and the wind drove the rain under a temporary covering on the central part of the structure.

Swenson suffered the greatest loss, the water dripping through from the second floor on his jewelry stock and into his wall and show cases. It also dripped through the floor into the basement doing considerable damage to the furnace. Things were quite badly damaged in the insurance office, plumbing shop and office of the fuel and ice company. In Ciske Bros' pool rooms the pool and billiard tables escaped damage. The ceiling, walls and floor of the front portion were damaged.

The damage to the Menasha club was confined to rugs which were badly soaked and to the ceiling, walls and floors. The pool and billiard tables escaped damage.

Develop Water Power In Reservation, Tripp Says

BY ALLAN H. TRIPP
President, Association for Relief from High Water

There have been a lot of articles printed in the various papers not only in the state of Wisconsin, but through the west in reference to water power development in the Indian reservation. Since I have been connected with high water relief work, I have been very careful in regards to giving the public reliable information on this flood menace, and I do not write any article for the public press until I can back it up by some local authority higher than I am, as I am no engineer or flood expert.

The Indians for a great many years have been trying to develop their own water power in the Menominee reservation. A delegation of Indians went to Washington last March and called on Congressman Browne of Waupaca and asked him to introduce a bill that would let the Indians develop their own water power in the Indian reservation. Congressman Browne presented his bill at this last session of Congress.

When the papers published this matter, that the Indians were going to develop water power, or had asked Congress to give them the right to develop water power, the fun started. Meetings were held in various places of the Fox river valley and telegrams and letters were sent to the various congressmen and senators, asking them not to allow the Indians to develop any water power in the Menominee reservation. The only reason given was because it was going to destroy one of the beauty spots of the state of Wisconsin. The truth in regard to this matter is as follows:

INDIANS WANT MONEY

The Indians want money, and they know that one way of getting this money is by developing the water power in their Indian reservation, which they have a perfect right to do. They do not care whether the beauty spots are destroyed or not. What they want is money, and are willing to destroy, as some people think it will destroy, the beauty spots in their reservation so that they can get money, or as they term it, annuities, from the development of this water power. The Indians themselves had a survey made a few years ago by an engineer, and this engineer has gotten together valuable data which is authentic, and the Indians have a lot of water power in the reservation that may be developed.

When the bill presented in Congress came to the attention of the Wisconsin Power Co. they took the matter up with the Federal Power board, that is, they asked the Federal Power board for a preliminary permit to go into the Indian reservation and make a survey so that they could find out what power could be developed there, and after they had gotten this information, they would apply to the Federal Power board for a license to build these reservoirs and dams.

The Wisconsin Power people made an application some time in April of this year and it has been a matter of public record from April until now, or until Sept. 16, when this hearing was held at Milwaukee that the Wisconsin Power Co. had made an application for this permit. Should the Federal Power board grant this permit, it shuts out any other power company for a period of three years from going into the Indian reservation and making a survey, but it does not prevent any other power company from making an application to go into the Indian reservation after the Wisconsin Power Co. have got through with making their survey.

It seems to me that the public and every one interested has had ample opportunity to make an application to go into the reservation and make dians for this water power. The first thing to find out is, how much water power can be developed, and then will be the time to take up the proposition of finding out what should be the right amount of money to pay these Indians for this water power. The first thing to do is to get the survey made. Any one, in my estimation, that stands in the way of granting this survey is standing in the way of the future of the upper Wolf Valley district. Should this survey be made and the report of the engineers tell us that by the building of power dams in the Indian reservation that it is going to relieve flood conditions all the way down from Crandon to Green Bay, it will be a help, not only to the Indians financially, but it will be the means of keeping something like 350 families on their land that live in the upper Wolf Valley district, and should power be developed, it will mean that the cities of New London and Shoocton and all these upper Wolf Valley cities will become manufacturing centers, because where water power goes and where power is developed, industry follows.

The control of floods, the building of power dams and rights of navigation are three interests that are so interlocked each with the other that each interest should cooperate one with the other on a friendly basis, to try and find out what benefit each interest will have from the other interest. There is room in the Fox River Valley, in my estimation, for Indians and for the White Race also room for the interests of navigation without one interest inflicting any hardship on the other interest. I am sure such men as Florian Lampert, of Oshkosh; and George Schneider, of Appleton, and Congressman Browne, of Waupaca, are competent enough to see that no hardship is inflicted on the Indians.

HAVE $3,000,000 CREDIT

At the hearing at Milwaukee, it was testified to that there are 1,900 Indians in the Menominee Reservation; that they have $3,000,000 of money now to their credit, and that they are operating a sawmill at a loss under their own management. In my estimation it is folly for the Indians to go into the power business and develop their own water power and use up this $3,000,000. The Wisconsin Power Co. should be given the right to make this survey, and they should be given the right, or any other power company should be given the right as they have already been given the right, to make an offer to the Indians for the power. All this matter is provided for in what is known as the Federal Power Act, and if any one will read the Federal Power Act through they will see that the rights of everybody are protected by the highest officials of the United States Government.

As to what effect it is going to have on the power companies below Neenah should the Wisconsin Power Co. develop water power in the Indian Reservation, it means that the entire regulation of the Valley will come under the Federal Power Act, and water that is now wasted through the sluices at Neenah and Menasha will be held back in reservoirs and doled out in July and August when it is needed. In other words, the power people of the lower Fox River will be benefited rather than hurt because they will get more of the power than what they get now. The people living below Neenah will not be flooded out like they are now when the sluice gates are opened because if you can hold half this flood back, there will not be the need of doing so much sluicing.

WILL INCREASE LAKES

The government may get a revenue from this water power also. This of course depends under what form of regulation this water power is developed. It will also mean that it will be possible to keep a constant flow of water running into the Wolf River, something like the Wisconsin River is handled now.

As regards fishing and hunting and ducks, we will have, I am told, more lakes to fish and hunt on by the building of these reservoirs, and instead of the wild duck eggs being washed out by the May or June freshets as it is done now, you will be able to do away with this June flood, and in the same way you will protect millions of young muskrats from being washed out, as before anything is agreed to, all these various interests will be drawn together and it will have to be decided on as to what will be the proper heights of water to go down the Wolf River so as to look out for the interests of all.

I think if people understood the situation a little more than they will see that there are more people interested in this thing than the Indians. The Association for Relief of High Water brought out the above facts in a brief and it was submitted to the Federal Power Board at Washington, and I hope that on reading this article that people will ask that this survey be made for the good of all.

We are not interested in any power concern, and if the King of Slam had asked for this permit and these engineers had asked us to see that the Federal Government made this survey, we would have asked that the King of Slam be given this survey just as well as the Wisconsin Power Company.

ORDINARY PEN USED TO SIGN IMPORTANT PAPERS

Havana—(AP)—An ordinary steel pen set in a simple red wooden staff with a soft rubber grip is one of the most jealously guarded objects in the possession of Mrs. Bertha Kending, private secretary to Major General Enoch H. Crowder, United States ambassador to Cuba.

With this pen and staff, which could be duplicated in the United States at almost any stationery store for ten cents, General Crowder has signed every important document since his appointment.

Draggy Power

YOU know how it seems when you've just had the carbon taken out and the valves ground—maybe the timing pushed up a wee bit ahead. How it jumps when you step on it—how it takes the hills—and gives the other fellow the dust!

Why, you wonder how you let that valve job run so long. That stepped-up power feeling is worth dollars and cents to you in tickled satisfaction alone!

There's the same brisk exhilaration when you step from the draggy, jaded dullness of cheapened gas to the up-and-dusted sprightliness of Wadhams 370. You get the same worth-its-cost-and-then-some feeling of lightened heels and abounding energy. You marvel that you put up with poor running so long.

Here's your test today! Let a good motor man key down your carburetor to where it sputters and pops with low priced gas—too thin a mixture, in other words. Then fill with

Wadhams 370 True Gasoline 370 [at the Yellow Pumps]

No more popping or backfiring! The greater proportion of air with less gas is just right for "370". Right away you begin getting back the slight additional gallon cost of better gas. And with it, that sparkling, eat-up-the-road eagerness that shakes up the old adventurous corpuscles in your red blood. You'll show 'em!

You've left kerosene behind as a motor fuel—you're done with its dullness and its motor danger—done with its oil-diluting ravages under the mask of false economy. On pocket book and power—no more drag for you!

Tells How New Remedy Relieved Suffering And Made Him Well

Aged Appleton man now free of stomach trouble, backaches, headaches, constipation and other complaints.

Mr. Everett Granger

"Dreco has helped me so I've already persuaded several friends to try it and it is a pleasure to give this statement for publication in the newspapers," declared Mr. Everett Granger in a recent talk with the Dreco man at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store. Mr. Granger who lives at 617 N. Appleton St. this city is now 63 years old and works as gardener every day.

"When I started on Dreco I felt so bad I was losing lots of time from my work. My stomach pained me terribly after meals and was always bloated with gas. No matter how little I ate it felt like lead when it reached my stomach. Even a glass of milk distressed me terribly. I was also troubled with backaches, was always cold, had frequent headaches, slept poorly at night and was so completely rundown no one believed I would get well again.

for they all laughed at me when I first bought it and said I was throwing money away."

It cannot be repeated too often that the stomach is the fountain which supplies every part of the body. If the stomach is sick the brain, liver, bowels and kidneys are all sick. The trouble may all be felt in one spot it may be in the stomach itself, or it may be in the liver, or in the kidneys. It will be felt in the weakest place. Wherever it is Dreco corrects the trouble by its prompt action on the stomach.

Mr. W. V. Martin, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. downtown drug store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

NEW VICTOR RECORDS OUT TODAY

20140—Broozin' Along (With the Breeze)
Moonlight on the Ganges... The Revelers

Every recording of the Revelers seems to turn out better than the last one. They have one here that should command special attention. Two fox trot series, included in it, the first an original piece of jazz, and the second an Oriental song with less features. Everything is in popular vein with no exceptions. The records are clear, bright and powerful.

20138—The Birth of the Blues—Fox Trot Countess Maritza—Fox Trot

Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra
Paul Whiteman made these records with an orchestra of 12-15, they are so clear, sharp and powerful. The composition makes for a fine flexible dance, with bits of melody heard from Brahms Hungarian dances. The dance is a success in itself, and a comic opera success of which it is a namesake.

20141—Ting-a-Ling—Waltz
Sleepy Head—Waltz

Waring's Pennsylvanians

Dance orchestras are growing larger and better, and the quality of their music more complex and intense. Waring's Pennsylvanians do not escape this law, and these two new waltz records exemplify it. Both are in the slow tempo of the elegant waltz, and both are arranged for the orchestra with more than ordinary richness of effect. Vocal refrains appear (Tom and Fred Waring and orchestra).

Her Own Way A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

"I am not yet used to it. I open that little book many times a day and look at those two words at the top of the page: 'May 7, 1926—$25,000.00' and I wonder if those are really magic words and if I can write a check and have all that money turned over to me."

"Now you, my dear," said Mamie, looking at me with something that I could not explain in her face. "You who only a few weeks ago had no thing to your name after your bag had been stolen are talking of setting fifty thousand dollars from a man whom you hardly know as if it were perfectly easy."

"Good Lord, Judy, do you think you are a vamp?" I thought you have gone crazy over something you have seen at the movies."

"Do you know, Judy, how frightened you were that night when you thought you were penniless and alone in this great big city. I think I have never seen such bewildered agony on any face in all my life."

"You will never see it again on my face, Mamie," I told her. "I've learned a lot since that time. I always knew I had magnetism, and now I think I know how to use it."

"Have you learned to separate a man from fifty thousand dollars or his money? You may find that a little different from asking for a box of candy," Mamie said with as much sarcasm as a girl of her temperament was capable of.

"That remains to be seen," I answered as I put on my hat to go to the store."

I was early, but I had a shrewd hunch that I would be asked to come to Doctor Flint's office and I wanted to get that over before I met either Mr. Robinson or some sharp reporter who would be sure to dig up the fact that I was one of the last people to see poor Martha Cleaver alive."

Sure enough there was a cash girl at my locker, and the moment I hung up my hat she said, "Miss Dean Doctor Flint asked if you would come to his office."

"Certainly," I answered and followed her.

Doctor Flint met me with a very serious face as I opened the door. I could see that he was trying to smile, but he made me feel that if he smiled very long his face would crack."

"Will you be seated, Miss Dean?" I sat down, but I didn't speak a word.

That got the doctor's goat at once. Finally, after clearing his throat once or twice, the old hypocrite said most pompously, "I will not discuss the fact that Miss Dean, that the Morton Department Store is placed in a most disagreeable position by the death of Miss Cleaver."

He stopped and waited for me to speak.

"Yes," The word was as insistent as I could make it.

My tone had the desired effect upon Doctor Flint. I could see that it drove him mad with rage. He lost all control of himself.

"Where's that bottle?" he shouted at me.

"What bottle?" I asked as innocently as I could.

"You know very well what bottle, young woman. Pass it over or I will be the worse for you."

I began to get angry, and I did not make a sound. The idea of that old man telling me that poor Miss Cleaver's suicide was going to make it disagreeable for the Morton Department Store, when he knew how disagreeable that state of desolation where she would take her own life made me want to strike him. I looked at him. He need not think he was going to frighten me. He need not think that I was going to do anything that I didn't want to do. I think I made him understand this and that he realized he had made a mistake by trying to bully me, for he immediately started on another track.

"Forgive my outburst, Miss Dean," he said. "Of course you know that I am very much worried about the loss of that bottle containing the liquid that poor Miss Cleaver drank here while she was temporarily insane. It will be very terrible if someone who does not understand all the circumstances should find that bottle."

"No one could have dreamed that a woman who was as successful in her chosen work as Miss Cleaver could possibly make her own life. I will tell you, Miss Dean, that I was so sure in my own mind that this could not be that I did not, as I usually do, glance about for incriminating evidence of suicide when I come upon a man or woman in her condition."

"Of course, the moment I really examined Miss Cleaver, I found out what was the matter with her, but I was then too busy trying to save her life to think of anything else."

"Did you really examine her, Doctor Flint?" I thought you were too busy telephoning to do that. I know you left your patient while you held a long conversation with someone over the wire."

"I was trying to get an ambulance to get the poor woman to the hospital," the doctor explained. "Someone else could have made that request just as well as you, doctor."

Doctor Flint tried to grope my last speech.

"Without answering anything I said to him, Doctor Flint said in a very nasty tone of voice, 'I cannot understand, Miss Dean, why you did not speak to me about the bottle. You must have seen it had a poison label.'"

I looked straight into his face and bowed my head.

"He chose also to ignore that, although he clared a bit."

"I must tell you that it certainly looked rather suspicious to me when Mr. Robinson told me that you had given that bottle into his hands, unless you must know that I was the one to take charge."

"What did you think you would make by taking it to Mr. Robinson?" I was so angry that I could hardly speak, and then I smiled inside of me. I couldn't help it. For I had a sense of power which to me was the most thrilling emotion I ever had.

That old hypocrite was accusing me of the very thing I was intending to do. He was intending that I should go back and tell Mr. Robinson that I had given him the bottle.

NO DEMAND FOR AMERICAN ART IN ENGLAND

Lack of Knowledge of U. S. Artists Given as Cause for Lack of Interest

New York, (AP)—There is no demand in England for the works of American artists and in the mind of one English art authority there is little hope of any developing.

He is C. Reginald Grundy who, is touring the United States in order to formulate a report to the Museums Association of Great Britain on the organization and operation of American museums.

"But what of Sargent and Whistler?" he was asked.

"Why, of course, there always is a demand for their work, but we look upon them as our own. They spent years in England and did their best work with us. Sargent was an Academician and could have been head of the Academy."

Mr. Grundy was not reflecting upon American artists. He believes much good work is being done here and attributes the lack of demand in England to unfamiliarity with American artists.

"Interest might be created through travelling exhibitions and taking advantage of every opportunity to display the work of your painters," he explained, "but artists must live and America now is a great art market center for all nations. Why should Americans send their paintings and other works to England there to have remain on exhibition six months or longer before being sold when they can be disposed of almost immediately here?"

The Englishman is finding much about museums here to recommend to those of his country.

"You have become noted for your large art collections by wealthy people," he said, "I should like to see this situation expanded so that collecting will become general."

"I am amazed at the great scale on which the museums are organized and operated. I think you look upon them as links to the past, for everything is in a rush here. Nothing is static. Time you finish one thing, you start on something new."

"In England, our viewpoint is different. For many years, our museums were looked upon as curiosity shops. Now they have developed until they are considered for their educational opportunities. We don't look upon our museums as links to the past, for we still have the past with us."

When mention was made of the Leverhulme collection and the sale of other British art treasures in New York, Mr. Grundy said he had no personal objection to the movement of English collections to this country so long as objects of historical interest and value are not disturbed.

"The more widely our art is distributed, the more familiar people will become with our work," he explained.

ELITE COLONY ON SITE OF CHINESE DUCK POND

Honolulu, (AP)—Where Chinese ducks once swam, the elite of Hawaii now lives, for progress is sweeping away the swamps which in bygone years constituted much of the territory now embraced by Waikiki, whose sandy strip of beach is famous in song and fable.

The thousands who bathe here now find little to remind them of that time when Chinese quarrelled about the brackish pools of water and over the ducks they raised there.

The story is that one winter a severe storm arose with so much rain that the pools overflowed and ran together. The duck ponds became one and the flocks hopelessly mixed.

A riot almost resulted. The Chinese duck keepers, excited lest they lose their valuable birds engaged in shrill debates and blows were near. Then an aged Chinese stepped into the surging disputants and claimed attention.

"Let every one keep peace until nightfall," he pleaded. "When it is dark, every duck will return to his home flock."

It was as the Chinese peacekeeper had claimed. When the sun went down each duck returned to its proper shed and was locked up, the owners happy.

Since that day property values have flown higher than ducks can wing and the fashionable pleasure seekers are for the most part unaware that Waikiki ever was the breeding and feeding ground of water fowl.

PLEADS FOR TRUTH IN STAGE PRODUCTIONS

Lexington, Ky., (AP)—One Little Theatre pioneering professor, Carol Sax, of the University of Kentucky, believes the person who does not want the truth on the stage is the worst enemy of the theatre and drama today.

Admitting there is trouble aplenty in real life, let alone added realism on the stage, Prof. Sax sees sugar-coated Cinderella staging and cinemas as entertaining enough but not suitable for a steady diet.

He wants honesty in the theatre, plays true to life, by which one gains sympathy and understanding of fellowmen; for the most important factor in any drama he believes is that all acts contribute definitely to a definite end.

HIGHWAY MAKERS ARE EFFICIENT, CHIEF DECLARES

Road Contractors Are as Efficient as Railroad or Any Other Contractors

Washington, (AP)—Although investigations made by the Bureau of Public Roads indicate that the average highway contractor does not operate above 50 per cent efficiency, Thos. H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau, declared today that the highway builders are no less efficient than contractors on railroad work and other construction operations.

One hundred per cent efficiency, according to Mr. MacDonald, is not obtainable on work of this character, detailed observations indicating from eighty-five to ninety per cent to be the best practicable performance.

The difference between the maximum obtainable efficiency and the average performance results largely from numerous small time losses, the importance of which is not sufficiently appreciated by the foremen and superintendents who direct the labor employed on large construction projects.

By stop-watch studies of operations on actual highway projects the Bureau is seeking to discover the common time losses and bring them to the attention of contractors generally. In this way it hopes to develop a higher average level of efficiency in the conduct of the country's billion-dollar program of road construction and maintenance.

In spite of the low average level of efficiency, Mr. MacDonald added, highway contracting has long been looked upon by contractors as an uncertain business, and this belief has been reflected in the rising rates charged by bonding companies. One reason is found in the irresponsible bidding of contractors who have neither the plant, equipment nor financial ability to carry on the work, but who, in order to get the contract, underbid the really responsible bidders.

The bureau's studies have been made with the intention of showing the responsible contractors how costs may be reduced, and of assisting them in that way to meet the competition of those who have nothing to lose.

Coming!

The officer against whom such petition has been filed shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of such special election shall have been officially declared. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in the manner as is provided by law in primary elections. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. The name of the candidate against whom the recall petition is filed shall go on the ticket unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. After one such petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. This article shall be self-executing and all of its provisions shall be treated as mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall."

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—This amendment, if approved, will add to the constitution a self-executing provision for the recall of elective public officers by the direct vote of the people of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district, under the conditions and in the manner therein set forth. It will apply to officers elected by the people of the following classes only: state officers, county officers, congressional officers, judicial officers, and legislative officers, and will enable the people to recall any officer in the classes named, at any time after he has served one year of the term for which he was elected, and to elect another person in his place for the remainder of such term.

JOINT RESOLUTION No. 52, 1925

To amend section 5 of article V of the constitution, relating to the compensation of the governor.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That section 5 of article V of the constitution be amended to read: (Article V) Section 5. The governor shall receive during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of not less than five thousand dollars, to be fixed by law, which shall be in full for all traveling expenses incident to his duties. The compensation prescribed for governor immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment shall continue in force until changed by the legislature in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this constitution."

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring. That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—Under this amendment, if approved, instead of the governor's salary being fixed by the constitution, the legislature will have power by law to fix it at not less than five thousand dollars, which shall be in full for all traveling and other expenses incident to his duties.

REFERENDUM

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election there will be submitted to the voters a question relative to amending the Volstead Act as set forth in the Joint Resolution following:

(Jt. Res. 42, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION No. 47, 1925

Providing for referendum relative to memorializing congress to amend the National Prohibition Act.

WHEREAS, The eighteenth amendment to the constitution was ratified by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin without submission to a vote of the people; and

WHEREAS under the "concurrent" clause of said amendment the legislature of the state of Wisconsin provided for the manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating beer by Chapter 536, Laws of 1919; and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the congress of the United States passed the National Prohibition Act commonly known as the "Volstead Act" limiting the alcoholic percentage of beverages to one-half of one per cent by volume; and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the supreme court of the United States ruled that the congressional enactment superseded the state enactment; and

WHEREAS a large portion of the citizens of this state are desirous that said National Prohibition Law be amended so as to permit the lawful manufacture and sale within this state of palatable beer of an alcoholic percentage not in conflict with the provisions of the eighteenth amendment; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that there be submitted to the voters of the state of Wisconsin at the general elections to be held in this state in November, 1926, the following question, so as to determine if a majority of the people of the state of Wisconsin desire the Volstead Act amended:—

Shall the congress of the United States amend the "Volstead Act" so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer, for beverage purposes, of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75% by weight, under government supervision but with the provision that no beverage so purchased shall be drunk on the premises where obtained?

NOTE—This resolution simply provides for the submission to the voters at the coming general election of a question framed to ascertain the opinion of the electors of Wisconsin as to whether the Volstead Act should be amended in the particulars stated in the question. No change will be effected in the constitution or the state laws by the vote upon the question submitted.

Given under my hand and official seal at the court house in the city of Appleton this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1926.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

A deep and active low pressure area is moving northeastward across the Dakotas, with its center over Manitoba this morning. It is causing rains from the middle Mississippi valley northward and northeastward. Its trough should pass this section tonight, extended by rains this afternoon, and by unsettled weather to night, with fresh to strong winds. Cooler weather, with slowly clearing skies, will follow as it passes by Saturday, and the weather probably will be generally fair and cool over Sunday.

FOOD CANNED 6 YEARS

Rotterdam—Food that has been canned six years was opened recently by a Dutch physician, Van Leersum, and found to be still fit for human consumption. It was meat hash, including onions and potatoes. The essential thing in canning, according to Dr. Van Leersum is to be sure that all air is exhausted from the can before sealing.

PEOPLE OF ENGLAND NEVER SEE A CIRCUS

London—(AP)—England is a circus-less land. The small boys of John Bull's island have no opportunity with the advent of the spring to feed the elephant and watch the beautiful spangled ladies dance about on prancing horses in staid stables.

And London had the first permanent circus in the modern world. Philip Astley built it about 120 years ago just across the Westminster Bridge from the Parliament buildings. It became so famous it found its way into many of Dickens's books and continued to be one of London's favorite places of amusement until it was sold in 1893.

Street fairs employ performers who work in the open-air and have small tented menageries, but they are nothing compared to the old-time circus which the English enjoyed. Olympia, Crystal Palace and Agricultural Hall occasionally shelter a winter circus, recruited largely from German, Austrian and Italian performers. But these circuses do not travel as they have no tents and are assembled merely for a special London engagement. Most circus performers have acts that can be staged in a hut, acts that can be staged in the average music hall.

PUMP BALL FROM LUNG

Prague—A boy, blowing lead balls from a pipe, inhaled too strongly and drew one into his lung. Efforts to extract it were unsuccessful and his life was despaired of. Then a rubber hose was introduced until the end touched the obstruction. An air pump was used and the ball was drawn out almost immediately.

LOWERING PRICES BY DOUBLING SALES

That's our plan. Simple, but efficient. Our business is based on many sales at a small margin of profit. By doubling our sales—selling two pounds for every pound we have sold before—we can cut our small margin of profit in half.

For that reason we are featuring certain cuts of prime meat every week at reduced prices. And thrifty housewives are welcoming the opportunity to save on their meat costs and co-operate in lowering prices.

BLUES SET TO SURPRISE MARQUETTE GRIDDERS

Battle Between Catlinites And Golden Avalanche Crew Biggest Opener In Midwest

Marquette Supporters Confident of Victory in Spite of Green Players

"A surprise for Marquette" seems to be the slogan of Coach Mark Catlin's Bluebird gridmen as they round out a week of hard practice for the opening battle of the season here Saturday. The Golden Avalanche, noted for its famous offense and star players, will invade Whitefish field for one of the most important opening day grid battles in the middle west. The Catlinites have had plenty of hard scrimmages this week and show a drive far superior to that of the 1925 squad in the opinion of watchers.

Catlin's starting lineup still is in doubt, though workouts of the past week give a fair idea of the men who will be ready for the whistle. The ends and tackles are fairly certain with Hipke and Jessup at the wings and Capt. Connel and Ott at the tackles. Stenlund probably will start at guard, with Artz, Johnson or Weinkauff at the center and Johnson or Weinkauff at center. Present indications have Artz starting at guard with Weinkauff in reserve and Johnson at center.

In the rear wall either Bloomer or Heldman will start at quarter, with chances favoring the former though Snooks will be in there before the tilt is over. At fullback will be Raffell with Nason at one half, Briese or Humphrey may start at the other half. Briese is the logical starter, but several difficulties may keep him out of the tilt. Humphrey has a bad knee.

Two reserve end pairs are ready to go with Bayer and Hilton getting the call over Hillman and Grove. Hilton may be used to punt. In case the center of the Blue line weakens the onslaught of Capt. Don Craine. Hipke may go back to his old berth with either Bayer or Hilton replacing him. Backfield reserves are Dreher and Schlegelhauf.

Marquette is weakened at quarterback though that position will be filled in the line where four green men perform. The backs are star vets. The green line may be to Lawrence's advantage with plungers like Nason, Bartell and Briese. The supporters of the Avalanche are confident of a victory over the Blues no matter how close the score.

BAETZMEN MEET ACES ON SUNDAY
Claimants of City Title Play Valley Loop Squad After Series Game

The Appleton baseball team of the Fox River Valley League will play the Appleton Aces, claimants of the city championship, Sunday afternoon at major park. The Aces have won the majority of their games this season and have beaten every team in the city but the loop squad. Manager Baetz stated that the game will be played to allow the league team officials to look over the stars of the rival squad for possible material for the major crew. Impressive men will be given a tryout with the Baetzmen next spring, if they desire.

The game will be called about 5 o'clock so that the players and fans can witness the second game of the world series on the Post-Crescent Playograph. No admission will be charged to the game at Brandt park and all local fans are invited to attend.

SUNDAY GAME

Depere at Wrightstown

The 1926 championship banner of the Inter-county Baseball loop will fly over either Depere or Wrightstown after Sunday when the leaders clash in the title game at Wrightstown ball park. With the schedule completed the teams were tied for the top so that Sunday's game was necessary to settle the title. Neutral umpires will handle the tilt.

Wrightstown has held first place most of the season but the Depere Mudhens have come to the fore by a fighting finish which netted them seven wins in the last nine starts. Wrightstown's heavy hitting gives that crew a slight advantage over the Mudhens though the Depere boys have a better fielding average. Lardinois and Kohlbek will toe the mound for Depere with Dick handling the fast ones. Willard Kussow will throw his shots to his brother Alfred to defend the title for Wrightstown.

ESKIMOS COPPED 3 GAMES IN ROW

Never's Crew, Foe of Packers, Has Held Opponents Scoreless so Far

ESKIMOS RECORD

Eskimos 27, Ironwood 0.
Eskimos 7, Kansas City 0.
Eskimos 7, All Stars 0.
Eskimos 41, Opponents 0.

Green Bay—As a result of the impressive showing made against the Twin City All-Stars in Minneapolis last Sunday, Eddie Nevers and his Eskimo football team from Duluth loom up as one of the most powerful organizations in the National Football League.

Although they won in St. Paul by only a 7-0 score, Green Bay fans may be prepared to gaze upon an eleven of powerful proportions. Pitted against them was the nucleus of the old Minneapolis Marine team, traveling under a new moniker. This is the team that has given the Cardinals some of the stiffest competition they ever encountered.

Heading the All-Stars was Paul Desjardien, noted All-American from the University of Chicago, who won more college letters than ever performed for Alonzo Stagg. With him starred Dick Hanousek, former lumbar at Notre Dame in the days of the famous Four Horsemen. Hanousek and Nevers met once before. This was New Year's day, 1925, when Leland Stanford fell before Kneek Rockne and his Four Horsemen, 22-10. The marvelous defensive work of Nevers that day kept Notre Dame from running up a score of staggering proportions. Hanousek was one of Rockne's stars on offense and defense.

Despite the presence in the All-Star lineup the Swanbeck, Matthews, and Butler, three of the most brilliant linemen that ever played at the University of Minnesota, the Twin City team was unable to gain with any consistency.

CARDS, YANKEES EVENLY-MATCHED

AS GAMES START

Comparison of Rival Series Contenders Make the Big "If" Major Factor

This is the last of a series of stories dealing with the comparative strength of the various departments of contending world series teams.

New York—(AP)—Stock-taking of the merit and demerits of the principals in the world series, opening Saturday, indicates that they are well matched. Where the Yankees have an edge in one department, the Cardinals are able to show an advantage to offset it in another, making the ever present "if" the big factor in the ultimate decision. An injury to a star may throw all the machinery out of gear.

Experts, in the main, agree that "O'Farrell expected to do all the catching for the National League entry, has more equipment than either Severid or Collins, the Yankee receivers. However, should he be injured, Vick, the substitute, on the face of available returns will not be able to cope with either Hank or Pat.

Variety in plenty is offered in the many pitchers ready for duty. Each team has a star able to display any wares the moment seems to demand. Gehrig and Bottomley, at first base, seem evenly matched on their seasonal play. Hornsby, in spite of manager's cares, has compiled a better record than Lazzari at second base and Lester Bell has outperformed Joey Dugan. Koenig displays a slightly better batting average than Thevenow but both are inexperienced.

All the information the shortstops have of world series play has been communicated and not conferred. "If an advantage shall be conceded to the Cardinals on the infield it must be taken away when the calculations are extended to the outfield. In Ruth, Combs and Meusel, the American Leaguers present a trio of outposts with a better all around record of performance than can be mustered by Southworth, Douthitt, and Hafer, good as they are.

BIG TEN COACHES ADD FINAL TOUCH

All Western Conference Squads Open Season With Preliminary Battles

Chicago—(AP)—Western Conference coaches Friday added that final touch to their 1926 season of football, laid out in attractive display for the first time Saturday. The unknown element provided by three intersectional clashes among the opening games made the final sessions of more than usual import, and additional interest hung on word passed through barred gates that several of the Big Ten coaches were bestowing the pigskin on the styles for which they are widely over on games radically departing known.

Despite a cloak of silence about the University of Chicago stadium it was generally held that Stagg's persistent adherent of straight football tactics, was running over the moves in an aerial attack destined for the University of Florida, whose team arrived in the city for a brief drill. Northwestern's preparation for entertaining the South Dakota squad took the same turn.

Minnesota's varsity hustled through a final session involving Prairie country football, also on the eve of a clash with North Dakota. At Michigan, interest centered in the aerial game built to development for use against the Oklahoma Aggies.

On edge for an inaugural start against Navy, Purdue's Bollermakers had to forego a last day of practice for the train trip to Annapolis. Coach Zuppke, in final session with the Hoosiers before the game with Coe College, was pessimistic.

ELK BOWLING TEAMS TO CONTAIN 6 MEN

FOUR CHANGES IN APPLETON SQUAD FOR BIG BATTLE

Kruse, Cookson, Holtermann Unable to Start Against Manitowoc Highs

When the 12 teams of the Elk bowling league open their 1926-27 season Friday evening on the Elk alleys, a new system will be started in Appleton bowling. The innovation is a six-man team with every score being counted toward the total. So many bowlers wanted to take part this year that the committee had decided to roll out only five men each week, the low out for one period. However, at a man of the preceding week dropping meeting Thursday evening it was decided to let all six roll each time, counting all scores.

The opening schedule of the loop: 7 o'clock—Pickrell vs Pike; Whales vs Sardines; Bullereds vs Trout. 9 o'clock—Carp vs Sturgeon; Muskies vs Perch; Bass vs Salmon.

RICHARDS JOINS PRO NET PLAYERS

Youthful Star of America's Cup Defenders Says He Needs Money

New York—(AP)—Vincent Richards, youngest of America's tennis "Big Four" and hitherto regarded as the cornerstone of future Davis cup hopes, has turned professional, joining the pioneer group headed by Suzanne Lenglen and sponsored by Charles C. Pyle.

Richards departure from amateur ranks, announced Thursday night at a dinner given in Mile Lenglen's honor on board the liner Paris marked the completion of an international quartet attracted to the Pyle professional banner. The others are Mile Lenglen, Paul Feret, fourth ranking star of France, and Mary K. Browne, former American Champion.

"I had two alternatives," Richards declared in explanation of his move. "Either I had to quit amateur tennis and make a living for my wife and child or seize the opportunity to turn professional. I accepted the latter because I felt it gave me a chance to profit legitimately by my tennis ability. Furthermore I am convinced that professional tennis has a sound future and that its influence on the game will be for the best."

CHUTE CAGE CREW STARTS PRACTICE

Shorty's Shoes Strengthens Lineup by Addition of Former K-C Players

Shorty's Shoes, strong Little Chute semi-pro basketball team, already has started practice for the 1926-27 season. The team last year defeated some of the best semi-pro and pro teams of this part of the state. Three new stars, well-known to valley cage fans, have been added this year to strengthen the lineup. They are Adolph Courchane, George Busch and Jack Verbeten. Courchane and Verbeten starred with the Kimberly Independents of two years ago, graduating to the crack K. C. Athletics last year. This team won five titles including state amateur and district professional. Busch was with the Independents last year.

The remainder of the squad includes Manager Willard Van Handle, forward, a running mate of the Kimberly team for two years in high school; Stony Vandersteen, high school star southpaw and a Shorty Shoe man last year; Julius Schomer and Alois Weyenberg, star guard combination of the Chute high team last year.

The team issued a challenge to any state squad, none barred. Managers should get in touch with Willard Van Handle at Little Chute immediately as the team's schedule is filling fast. They will open the season at Leona, opponents of the strong Lena American Legion team.

DISCOVER ACTOR WITH CAMERA-PROOF FACE

Hollywood—(AP)—A camera-proof face has been discovered. The face belongs to Kenneth Thomson, a young leading man of the stars, who is acting his first role before the camera, and the honors of discovery are claimed by Cecil B. De Mille. Chief in the screen technique is the art of withholding objectionable face-angles from the camera. De Mille discovered in camera tests that Thomson has no objectionable face-angles. As a result the usual apprenticeship to the screen was cancelled.

FOR BIG BATTLE

Kruse, Cookson, Holtermann Unable to Start Against Manitowoc Highs

With four changes in the starting lineup from the eleven men which opened the Shawano game last Saturday, Appleton high school's weakened grid squad will travel to Manitowoc Saturday to play its first conference game with the strong Shipbuilders.

Two injuries this week, one to Kruse, star guard, and the other to Cookson, flashy halfback, caused the changes in the lineup. The newly-moulded machine is a fighting crew and will go down with colors flying in spite of the weakened positions.

Kunitz, who played a great game at end in his first try at that position last Saturday, has been shifted to fullback, leaving the wing job weakened. Laird, a 1925 regular, will replace him and Hartung, who started against Shawano, will hold down the other wing berth. Schaefer and Dre-sang will be in reserve. In the backfield Strutz will replace Cookson, though Al will be ready to go in if he is needed. Strutz is a 1925 regular and went good after he got into the Shawano game. Lutz will be calling signals with "Ten Yards" Johnston at the other half. Kunitz has been working on passes and will try some long heaves Saturday.

Changes in the line shift Holtermann to reserve center and return the veteran Lierth to his old job. Holtermann has a bad knee, while Lierth, who was out with an injury to a chestbone, is better and will wear an especially made padded supporter over his injury. He has played center for two years. Heinrich will be at his usual guard but the other will be later turned back to Providence, then in the same league as Elmwood, for further seasons.

In a few short years Ruth developed so fast as a pitcher that he was regarded as the best southpaw in the American League. When not mowing down opposing batters, he gave signs of considerable ability as a slugger.

In 1918, Ed. Barrows, then manager of the Boston Red Sox, started the baseball world by the announcement that he intended to make an outfielder out of the great southpaw. He gave as his reason the belief that Ruth's batting ability would win more ball games for his team than as a pitcher.

Barrows tempted fate and did a mighty good job of it. Ruth made good for him with a vengeance.

Sold to the New York Americans in 1920 for $125,000, the greatest price ever paid for a ball player up to that time, Ruth began breaking all attendance records with his ability to make home runs.

In 1921 he established a record in that line that will probably stand for all time, driving out 59 circuit clouts. The past season he made 47 in an effort to set a new mark of 60. Enuff for Ruth.

Twice released as a minor leaguer, Hornsby showed enough to be purchased by the Cardinals for $500. He made good from the start. For a couple of years he played every position in the infield and took a whirl at the outfield before deciding that second base was his forte.

Starting in 1920, Hornsby for six successive years lead the National League at the bat. This year he was

Battle Between Rajah and Babe Attraction Of Series

BY BILLY EVANS

Step lively folks! The big show is just about to start.

On the inside we have the great Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat, the Betting Bambino, the Colossus of Clout.

You can't afford to miss baseball's greatest attraction. No game is complete with out him. Money back if he fails to hit a home run.

And while on the inside, ladies and gentlemen, don't overlook the Babe's greatest rival, Rogers Hornsby, the Peerless Rajah of Wallop, the King of Baseballville.

Sounds like the ballhoo for a circus sideshow. On the contrary, it best tells the story of what the 1926 world series has to offer in the way of the unusual.

Every big series has had its stars but for the first time in the history of the game, the two outstanding players in the National and American Leagues are arrayed against each other in the annual diamond classic.

Babe Ruth, home run king of the New York Yankees and try to uphold the prestige of the American League, is the National League's premier batsman.

Rogers Hornsby, premier batsman of the National League, baseball's greatest second-sacker, who is now eligible for the much overworked title of "Miracle Manager" for his success in guiding the St. Louis Cardinals to a pennant, stands out as the one best bet of the National League.

The world series itself is a magnet that always plays to a sellout regardless of the contending teams or the personnel game. It's the climax of a long grand over six months of play for the championship.

However, when the series also presents the two biggest names in baseball, Babe Ruth and Rogers Hornsby, it is a tremendous added attraction.

Never in the history of the game have two such colorful figures graced the lineup of the rival teams. In a sense, the careers of these two great stars have been dotted with many unusual incidents. Success has not been attained without great effort. Early failures did not keep either of them from carrying on.

Babe Ruth began his career in 1914 as a pitcher with Baltimore. He was purchased by the Boston Red Sox and later turned back to Providence, then in the same league as Elmwood, for further seasons.

In a few short years Ruth developed so fast as a pitcher that he was regarded as the best southpaw in the American League. When not mowing down opposing batters, he gave signs of considerable ability as a slugger.

In 1918, Ed. Barrows, then manager of the Boston Red Sox, started the baseball world by the announcement that he intended to make an outfielder out of the great southpaw. He gave as his reason the belief that Ruth's batting ability would win more ball games for his team than as a pitcher.

Barrows tempted fate and did a mighty good job of it. Ruth made good for him with a vengeance.

SHORTY BARR TO HELP ARMSTRONG WITH CARROLL

Former Star Quarterback of Badgers Aids With Both
Line and Backfield

Waukesha — Shorty Barr, former University of Wisconsin football ace, now a member of the Racine professionals, has accepted a job at Carroll college as an assistant to Coach Norris Armstrong. Barr played quarterback at Wisconsin in 1922 when Rolfe Williams captained the Badgers. Barr began work as an assistant Monday night when he donned an orange suit and followed a squad through signal drill. He supervised one of the teams in scrimmage Tuesday night and took an active part in the fracas. Norris Armstrong plans to have Barr assist with both the line and backfield. The freshmen squad of 26 men gave the varsity plenty of competition Tuesday. The young huskies in green promise to be real candidates for the Pioneer team next fall. Injuries to four of Armstrong's linemen has pared down considerably the number of substitutes for Friday's game with Milton college. Bazal, regular end; Jentz, sub end; Loy, regular tackle, and Fred Erdman are out with injuries.

CONTRACTORS BARELY BEAT ANOTHER RAIN

Koepke Brothers, contractors, finally beat the rain and finished a contract on the Black Creek road just ahead of Thursday night's downpour. It was reported. Although a comparatively minor job, a contract involving less than $5,000 for laying concrete, the company was put to innumerable inconveniences which tied up the work for days at a time. It is believed the firm will move its machinery to near Madison where it is understood it has another contract.

Chicago is soon to construct what is termed the largest aquarium in the world.

COED TENNIS PLAYERS START TOURNAMENT

Women competitors in the annual fall tennis tournament as Lawrence college will play their first games next week, according to an announcement of the rules of the met. All college women, either faculty or students, are eligible for the tournament, it was said, and should register at the Alexander gymnasium this week. Drawing for places will take place at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon at the gymnasium, and the first games of the meet must be played within 48 hours after drawing or places will be forfeited.

The tournament will last about four weeks it was said, depending on the weather conditions. The player at the top of the list at the closing of the lists will be declared the winner.

BAKER TALKS AT STEVENS POINT

Will Tell Mentors How to Teach Music in Rural Schools

Dr. Earl L. Baker, supervisor of public school music in the Appleton schools and head of that department at Lawrence conservatory, will speak on How to Teach Music in the Rural Schools at a meeting of rural teachers at Stevens Point Saturday afternoon. Topics that will be discussed by the speaker will be: How to teach note songs, how to test and seat students according to their musical ability, what material to use, how to give children's operettas and cantatas in the rural schools, and how to sing.

Dr. Baker talked last week to the rural teachers of Outagamie co at Wilson junior high school and gave demonstrations of work done in the Appleton schools in boys' chorus work. Since that time four school superintendents have asked Dr. Baker for assistants from the conservatory to help them adopt the suggested methods of teaching music. Miss Gladys Thompson of Fond du Lac, has been appointed as one of these assistants, and others will be selected in a few days, it was said.

Report All Robberies To Police, Is Chief's Advice

The police of Appleton or any other city are not necessarily psychic—they are not mindreaders—and persons who are the victims of robberies, no matter how inconsequential the articles stolen may be, would do well to report the matter to the authorities at once as an assistance to the department in stamping out petty crimes and vandal looting of parked automobiles, it was declared Thursday morning.

WANDERING TRIO GLAD TO START BACK FOR HOME

Three Algoma boys, aged 14, 15, and 15 years respectively, who started out early Thursday morning with the avowed intention of seeing the world and avoiding school started their return journey Friday at the behest of the Appleton police department.

Late Thursday night Motorcycle Patrolman Albert Dunn saw the three lads loitering near the junction—apparently waiting to "hop a freight"—southbound.

A few pertinent questions and the trio of would-be adventurers were invited to enjoy the hospitality of the city jail. A telephone call to the chief of police at Algoma revealed that parents will be awaiting the arrival of their adventurous offspring.

"Aw, Heck, this traveling idea ain't what it's cracked up to be—a brakie threw us off the train once an' me for one I'll be glad to get back to home and cakes," one disheveled youngster declared as he said goodbye to the officers at the police station.

WAITERS' DEAR, NO!

Boston—With heated discussion still raging in New York regarding some suitable substitute for the word "waiter," Boston is sitting back in relief with the question all solved. Checks now given in a Washington street place bear the word "server." The girls who work there say they prefer this word to "waiter."

The University of Texas has an income of $10,000 a day from oil royalties.

tomobiles, it was declared Thursday morning. During the summer months especially, records show, innumerable small articles are stolen from parked automobiles. Anything from flashlights up to spare tires and tubes, running the gamut of tools, and possibly packages of merchandise fall prey to looters who rely to a large degree on the carelessness of motorists in not reporting the facts to the police.

The majority of this type of depredations can be laid to juveniles but the property loss in the course of a year for any city runs into large figures, it was brought out.

Undoubtedly, police statistics reveal, careless automobile owners thrust a considerable amount of temptation into the path of casual petty thieves but regardless of this factor police declare that property rights must be observed and the department is willing to prosecute the search for such vandals no matter how minor the actual loss may be.

The Autumn Mode in Silk Dresses for Afternoon

THE AUTUMN SEASON brings the most charming of new silk dresses for correct afternoon and street wear. These new frocks feature such popular materials as satin, satin Canton, silk crepe, and crepe Romaine. The beautiful texture of these fine weaves goes far in making the rich effects that are so notable. New shades of jungle green, sable, carnelia (a rosy tan), and various tones of the very popular red and wine shades are used as well as smart black.

These dresses are frequently trimmed with plain or figured velvet with beautiful metal cloths as well as contrasting self fabrics. The models are developed in both one and two-piece styles. Two piece effects are sometimes attained with Eton and Bolero jackets. The young woman will find enchantingly youthful types, and the matron will delight in the dignity of the more mature styles.
